Election Squabble In Court

Supreme Court Hears Testimony On Nomination Battle for Mayor

The state Supreme Court today heard oral arguments in the long and involved legal dispute over who will be the Republican nominee in the upcoming Monessen mayoralty campaign.

Sitting in Pittsburgh, the Supreme Court justices accepted the case as one of their first items of business this morning. There was no indication whether a judgment or order would be handed down immediately.

At noon, attorneys for both John R. Stieska and Hugo J. Parente were still presenting arguments to the state's highest court.

The legal point at issue is whether the Westmoreland County Elections Board should cumulate "voting machine" votes which are incorrectly spelled.

The court decision will, in effect, decide if the GOP nominee for mayor is to be Stieska or Parente.

Since the May 21 primary, both Stieska and Parente have filed petitions appealing rulings which have named one and then the other as the Republican candidate.

Decisions Appealed

Parente easily won the Democratic nomination, defeating Stieska. Since there were no Republican candidates, both men staged write-in campaigns for the GOP nod.

The County Elections Board, acting on the advice of its solicitor, originally ruled that only votes with names properly spelled could be counted. On that basis, Parente won, 70-58.

Stieska appealed the decision and Westmoreland County President Judge Richard Laird reversed the Elections Board, ruling that all votes, regardless of how the names were spelled, should be counted. That gave Stieska the nomination, 170 to 149.

Parente then appealed to the County Court en banc. Judge Laird's decision was upheld when Judge Charles D. Copeland concurred. Judge John M. O'Connell filed a dissenting opinion.

This Last Step

The appeal to the state Supreme Court is the last step in the legal battle.

Parente's attorney, Morris Berger, argued that Section 1405 of the Pennsylvania Election Code specifically prohibits a county election board from cumulating write-in ballots when a voting machine is used.

When a person wants to write in a vote, he should at least know

Governor Resigns Naval Commission

CHARLESTON, S.C. (UP)—The U.S. Navy was minus one reserve officer today—South Carolina Gov. George Bell Timmerman.

Timmerman, a lieutenant in the reserves, resigned Saturday because of "the recent change in the official attitude on the federal level toward the personal and property rights of American citizens."

The resignation was in specific protest against the use of federal troops in the Little Rock school crisis.

SUSPEND CLASSES AT JUNIOR-SENIOR HIGH—These students were among those sent home from Monessen Junior-Senior High School this morning in an effort to curb a growing epidemic of "head colds and sore throats." Of the 1,345 students enrolled at the Junior-Senior High, 675 were reported to be ill today. Classes will resume tomorrow. All elementary grades were in session as usual today.

'Colds' Close Classes Here; Many Students, Teachers Out

Classes at Monessen Junior-Senior High School were suspended today in an effort to curb a growing epidemic of "head colds and sore throats."

Henry Furio, high school principal, said 675 students failed to report at the Junior-Senior High this morning out of the 1345 enrolled.

"We also had eight teachers absent and six more who were present, but running high fevers," Furio said. "We decided to dismiss classes for the day."

Apparently the "epidemic" has not reached the elementary schools in the city. Attendance at both public and parochial schools was reported about normal. All elementary classes were in session.

Much the same situation existed in Bellmarette and Rostraver Twp. Absences were far above normal in both the high school and junior high, but normal in the elementary grades.

Furio said that schools officials had advised the students "to stay off the streets, stay away from groups and drink liquids."

Parents were also asked to keep their children home and in bed at the first sign of a high fever.

Resume Tomorrow

"We plan to resume classes tomorrow," said Furio. "This ailment seems to be of very short duration and many students have already recovered."

School officials refused to label the sickness as the "Asiatic Flu" or any other type of influenza for that matter.

"The students report off with sore throats and head colds," said Furio. "They usually run high fevers and are almost completely recovered in a few days."

The "epidemic" started picking up momentum at Monessen Junior-Senior High School on Friday when more than 400 students reported off. It was hoped that the weekend rest would improve the situation.

At Rostraver, Superintendent of School E. F. Carter said that the sickness was pretty much confined to the junior and senior highs. He said no classes would be dismissed because "many of the stu-

Tank Memorial To Arrive in City Tomorrow

Monessen's new war memorial — an M4 Sherman medium tank — will arrive here tomorrow, it was announced today by John Hurrianko, commander of Allison-Lescanac Post 1190, Veterans of Foreign Wars.

The tank, which will be erected at City Park as a memorial to all war veterans, is being trucked to Monessen from Letterkenny Ordnance Depot, Chambersburg, Pa

Elaborate plans are being made by members of Post 1190, the sponsoring organization, to construct a fitting memorial.

The tank, which weighs 78,000 pounds, will be placed on a specially constructed slab of concrete. Additional steps are being taken to enclose the tank in a horseshoe enclosure of stone and brick. The grounds will be appropriately landscaped.

Tentative plans call for the erection of tablets at the site listing those from Monessen who died in action.

The purchase of the tank itself and the transporting — which totaled approximately $700 — is being paid for by individual members of Post 1190.

A public subscription may be asked to help with the stone work, honor tablets and lanscaping, Hurrianko said.

The tank is expected here early Tuesday afternoon.

John Josay Jr. Is Hurt in Accident

John Josay Jr., 42, of 1332 Leeds Ave., Monessen, was injured in a one-car accident near Belle Vernon yesterday afternoon about 5:30, it was learned today.

Josay was taken to Charleroi-Monessen Hospital suffering from shock and rib injuries. His condition was reported "fair" today.

State police had no report of the mishap.

Some Absenteeism At Steel Plants

Pittsburgh Steel Co. today said there has been "noticeable absenteeism" at its Monessen and Allenport plants due to the current "flu" epidemic.

Four men were sent home this morning because of the illness.

The absenteeism has not interfered with production, it was said.

Four Accidents In Monessen Over Week End

Four accidents occurred in Monessen over the week end, police reported today.

Ray Rendleman, of 1430 Schoonmaker Ave., Monessen, was traveling near 11th and 12th streets on Schoonmaker Ave. late yesterday afternoon when he lost control and struck a parked car belonging to the Hertz Corp., a car rental firm of Pittsburgh.

Damage was slight. Rendleman will be charged with traveling too fast for conditions.

At 7:30 yesterday morning, a car operated by Valentine Powlowski, of 332 Manown St., Monessen, was stopped for a traffic light at Schoonmaker Ave. and Seneca St. when it was struck by a car driven by James Tarpley, of R. D. 3, Monongahela. Minor damage resulted.

Cars operated by Vincent Burger, of 922 Second St., Monessen, and Shirley Adams, of Bentleyville, were involved in a crash early yesterday morning on State Rd., causing little damage.

Robert McCormick, of 809 Chess St., Monongahela, told police he was traveling west on Schoonmaker Ave. near the Charleroi-Monessen bridge when his car was struck by a hit-run driver early Saturday night. He obtained the license number of the hit-run car and will contact the owner, police said.

Youth Struck by Car Near Home

James Hite, four-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Hite, of 456 Clarendon Ave., Monessen, was struck by a car near his home early yesterday afternoon, local police said today.

Scipio White, of 535 Summit Ave., Monessen, driver of the car, took the youngster to Charleroi-Monessen Hospital where x-rays revealed no injuries. He did receive a bruised forehead it said.

Five Day Forecast

Western Pennsylvania Temperature will average two or three degrees below normal south and near normal north portion. Cool Tuesday and Wednesday south portion. Warming trend Thursday through Saturday. Little day to day change north portion. Occasional rain Tuesday and Wednesday south portion will average one-quarter to one-half inch. Little or no precipitation north portion.

Little Rock Peaceful; Faubus May Call Legislative Session

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (UP) — The second week of integrated education at Central High School began peacefully today. A reduced force of paratroopers, with bayonets removed from their rifles, stood guard as nine Negro children entered the school without incident.

The Negro children arrived at the school at 8:18 a.m. c.s.t. in an Army station wagon, escorted as usual by two jeeploads of paratroopers. One soldier, with a pistol strapped on his belt, escorted them from the car into the building. A small group of white students stood on the steps to watch their arrival, but made no demonstration.

About 200 paratroopers, less than half the number who drove back sullen crowds last Wednesday, ringed the school this morning. The naked bayonets which had been fixed on their M1 rifles last week were conspicuously absent.

No crowds assembled on the streets near the school.

The novelty had worn off the spectacle of armed troops ringing the high school, and Little Rock's interest was shifting to political and legal phases of the controversy.

Gov. Orval E. Faubus was expected to decide today whether he will call the state Legislature into special session. He said Saturday that a special session might enact legislation aimed at closing Central High School by cutting off state tax funds.

He returned to Little Rock late last night after spending the day in the northern part of the state sounding out state representatives and senators.

Faubus thinks that Central High, integrated last Wednesday under the bayonets of 500 paratroopers from the 101st Airborne Division, might be closed by withdrawing state funds from it.

Then, he thinks it might be reopened as a private institution, which would force the federal government to withdraw the troops. Presumably, that also would envision throwing out the Negro students.

Other developments in the Little Rock integration crisis:

—U.S. Rep. Brooks Hays (D-Ark.), a moderate on the integration question, appealed to President Eisenhower in an interview to withdraw the troopers and replace them with the federalized National Guard.

—Thousands of persons from the country and small towns crowded into Little Rock for the Arkansas Livestock Esposition. Authorities

Board Tightening Up Expense Allowances For State Employes

HARRISBURG (UP) — The state Executive Board has ordered a sharp tightening up of expense allowances for state employes, starting Oct. 1.

In an order issued to all departments, boards and commissions, the six-member group, headed by Gov. George M. Leader, outlined the specific amounts to be permitted employes for food, lodging and travel when on state business away from their regular headquarters.

Maximum meal allowances were fixed at $5 daily; breakfast and lunch each $1.25, and dinner $2.50. The employe must foot the cost of tips from the allowance.

Claims for lodging may not exceed $6 daily except in cities with a population of more than 100,000 where the allowance will be $7 a day.

The order makes it all but mandatory for state workers to use train or bus service rather than air travel if they do not use a state car or their own vehicle.

Curb on Taxicabs

It also specified that the use of taxicabs will not be permitted if buses or trolleys are available in the community.

On private cars, the state will allow mileage of 8½ cents for the first 1,000 miles and four cents for over that amount driven in any one month. This will be the maximum allowance and includes expenses for bridge tolls and parking.

Tips for certain services will be permitted. But the maximum is 25 cents for checking in or out of hotels and the same amount for porter service except at night when a Pullman porter can be tipped 50 cents.

On train travel, the employe will have to use coaches if the one-way distance is less than 200 miles, while Pullmans are permissible for anything over that amount. This would mean regular coach accommodations between Harrisburg and Philadelphia, but Pullman for trips from Harrisburg to Pittsburgh.

The board, in addition to Leader, includes Attorney General Thomas D. McBride, Welfare Secretary Harry Shapiro, Genevieve Blatt, secretary of internal affairs, Agriculture Secretary William L. Henning, and Banking Secretary Francis Myers.

Missing N. Y. Man Is Found In Monongahela

MONONGAHELA, Pa. (UP) — Henry Brubaker, 30-year-old Endicott, N.Y., restaurant owner who was reported drowned Aug. 18 on a fishing trip, is alive and staying here with his parents, it was learned today.

Atty. Joel A. Scelsi of Endicott, said Brubaker had informed him that he did not remember anything after walking away from a fishing companion at Seneca Lake, N.Y.

Scelsi said Brubaker's wife, off' financially, but has advised him to settle all business matters at Endicott because he does not wish to return there. No reason was given and Brubaker was unavailable for comment.

Brubaker's fishing companion at the time of his reported drowning was Clenwood B. Colley, also of Endicott, who said the two were sleeping in an automobile near the lake. When Colley woke up, Brubaker was missing His fishing rod was found in the lake and a flashlight was found on a pier. Dragging operations failed to recover any trace of Brubaker.

Scelsi indicated Brubaker may have suffered a mental strain. The attorney said he had met Brubaker secretly Sept. 19 in a Binghamton, N.Y. hotel and that Brubaker appeared "distraught and upset" at the time.

Scelsi, said Brubaker's wife, Eleanor, and the couple's son, Dale, 11, arrived here last Saturday. Neither would comment on Brubaker's strange actions.

Local Firemen To Take Part in Hospital Drill

Monessen and other area fire departments will hold a mass evacuation fire drill at Charleroi-Monessen Hospital Tuesday, Oct. 8, beginning at 6:30 p. m.

The drill is being held in conjunction with Fire Prevention Week, Oct. 7 - 12.

It will be similar to the drill held last year in which fire departments from Monessen, Charleroi, Lock Four, Belle Vernon, North Belle Vernon, Carroll Twp. and Rostraver Twp. participated.

Rostraver Twp. will "cover" Monessen during the drill.

More than 250 fire-fighters will take part, using a half-million dollars worth of equipment.

Life net and ladder crews, first aidmen, oxygen tanks, resuscitators and gas masks will be on hand.

There will be no actual evacuation of patients.

Chief W. Roy ScShaffrey will head the Monessen firemen.

Sixth Victim Of Mine Blast

James L. Wright, 59, Marianna, became the sixth victim of last week's Marianna mine explosion when he died Saturday at the Washington hospital.

Wright, a foreman, died of bronchial phneumonia, a complication as a result of severe burns, a hospital spokesman said.

A father of six, Wright was the last of six survivors pulled from the Marianna mine after an underground explosion last Monday. The mine is operated by the Bethlehem Steel Corp.

Wright's father met his death in the same mine 49 years ago when an explosion took the lives of 154 miners.

NEW YORK (UP)—The highest temperature reported in the nation Sunday was 107 at Gila Bend, Arizona. The lowest this morning was 22 at Fraser, Colo.

Newell Plant Workers Strike

A meeting will be held tomorrow in an effort to end a strike of 12 workers at the General Chemical Co. in Newell, near Brownsville.

The employes, represented by District Mine Workers, walked off the job last Wednesday in a contract dispute centering on wages.

Federal Mediator Henry Maggiolo of Pittsburgh has arranged for tomorrow's meeting.

Over the weekend, two helicopters took food, television sets and a radio to 26 supervisory employes who are staying at the plant. The strikers have set up picket lines.

THOMAS J. HAGGERTY (above), of Chicago, rival of James R. Hoffa for president of the Teamsters Union, arrives in Miami Beach, Fla., for the organization's convention.

Haggerty said he was informed that he would have the support of 900 of the 1,929 delegates.

Hoffa Leading In Open Race for Teamsters Post

MIAMI BEACH, (UP)— The Teamsters union convention opened today with controversial James R. Hoffa apparently well ahead in a five-way race for the union's top job.

The corruption charges against Hoffa and other top teamsters took a back seat to politicking for the $50,000-a-year presidency being vacated by Dave Beck.

A new contender, Teamsters Vice President William A. Lee of Chicago, joined the race and pledged himself to "restore the union's good name." He said he was not anti-Hoffa but merely pro-Lee.

An early test of Hoffa's strength may come in a preliminary report on delegates' credentials expected to reach the floor today. Balloting on the presidential post will be on Thursday.

Another contender, Chicago Teamster official Thomas J. Haggerty, protested that more than 175 delegates from 100 locals have been illegally elected and should not be seated. Most of them were committed to Hoffa, he said.

Haggerty's campaign manager, Peter J. Hoban, charged that Lee's candidacy probably was arranged with the approval of "the Beck-Hoffa axis."

The other announced candidates are Teamsters Vice President Thomas L. Hickey and John F. Shelley of San Francisco, Democratic congressman and long-time member of the trucking union.

Derry Man Killed In Shotgun Accident

LATROBE, Pa. (UP)—Westmoreland County Coroner Stephen D. Yoney today ruled accidental the death of Glenn Wesley Forsha, 41, Derry Twp., who was shot with his own shotgun Saturday.

Forsha's body was discovered in the barn on his farm by Harold Locke, of Derry, his brother-in-law. Police said Forsha, who had been hunting rats, apparently tripped, causing the gun to discharge. He was shot in the chest.

Lodge Asks UN Review Of Disarmament Talks

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (UP) —Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge told Russia today the West will agree to suspension of nuclear tests if the Kremlin will go along with a disarmament program "in acceptable stages."

Lodge, speaking for the United States, told the United Nations Disarmament Commission the entire record of the 5½ months' private arms talks held in London earlier this year should be reviewed by it and by the General Assembly "calmly and in a spirit of good will."

France, Britain, Russia and Australia also were listed to be heard by the 12-nation Disarmament Commission.

The General Assembly started the third week of its general—or policy—debate with speeches listed from the representatives of Argentina, Byelo Russia, Ethiopia, Venezuela, Pakistan and Morocco.

The disarmament committee made up of the 11 members of the security council and Canada, convened to consider the reports of the five-power subcommittee which ended nearly six months of private talks in London in a stalemate earlier this month. The subcommittee is comprised of representatives of the United States, Britain, France, Canada and Soviet Russia.

Sources said the U.S. is consulting other nations on sponsorship of an arms-cutting resolution to submit to the main political committee.

They said the resolution would ask the assembly to endorse the Western "package" disarmament plan submitted at London—and rejected by the Russians—and call for an early meeting of the subcommittee, probably in New York

Warren Is Asked to Bar Vote

WASHINGTON (UP)—Thirteen rank and file Teamsters appealed to the Supreme Court today to prevent the union from holding its national elections this week.

They asked the high court to reinstate a federal district court injunction against holding the elections at the Teamsters convention opening today at Miami Beach, Fla.

The case must be taken for action to a single justice, as the court is still in summer recess. The lawyer for the 13 Teamsters said, however, that selection of a justice is up to the court and not to them.

A court aide said the case probably will go to Chief Justice Earl Warren, who administers the District of Columbia circuit. Warren is now in Washington.

The Supreme Court clerk's office said the Teamster Union's attorney, Martin F. O'Donoghue, has indicated he will file arguments against the petition this afternoon.

Voting Wednesday

Warren has the right to act without holding an oral hearing. There was no immediate indication of what procedure would be followed.

The elections are scheduled for Oct. 4 at the union's Miami Beach convention which opens today. The 13 New York Teamsters charge the convention is stacked to assure election of Midwest Teamster boss James R. Hoffa as union president.

In another development, Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell said the Teamsters controversy may lead the administration to ask Congress for legislation for some form of supervision over union elections.

Mitchell said he is legally handcuffed from aiding responsible labor leaders to oust racketeers and corrupt union bosses from labor's ranks.

The secretary, appearing last night on a television program (Meet the Press—NBC), said recent disclosures of corruption within the Teamsters and other unions also may prompt the administration to back legislation for stiffer government supervision over the handling of union welfare funds.

The Appeals Court Saturday overturned a preliminary injunction issued by Federal Judge F. Dickinson Letts barring the Teamsters election on request of the New York rank - and - file group.

Business Fire In Brownsville Sunday Morning

Fire of undetermined origin broke out in the heart of Brownsville's business section yesterday morning, but "efficient work" by firemen contained the blaze to one storeroom.

DuWayn Swoger, chief of the North Brownsville firemen, said the blaze was discovered shortly after midnight in the Nolla Shop on Market St. He estimated damage to that store at $20,000.

Swoger said smoke filtered into four nearby stores, causing some damage.

"This could have been a disaster," said Swoger. "However an unknown passerby turned in the alarm early enough to give firemen a chance to keep the blaze from spreading."

Swoger said new fire - fighting techniques were used and pointed out that there was no water damage in any of the adjoining stores.

Firemen from both the North Brownsville and South Brownsville Companies took part in the three-hour battle against the flames.

The Nolla Shop, managed by Mrs. John D'Antonio of Brownsville, is one of three businesses located on the first floor of the three-story brick building.

Tax Expert Quits

HARRISBURG (UP)—Benjamin S. Bennett, the state Revenue Department's tax consultant, said today he will resign during the week of Nov. 1 to return to private practice.

French Assembly to Vote Today on Algerian Plan

French Premier Gambles Life of His Government

PARIS (UP) — Premier Maurice Bourges - Maunoury gambled the life of France's 23rd post-war government today on a vote of confidence on his proposed law to give more home rule to Algeria's rebellious Moslems.

The Assembly, which met at 9:30 a.m. (4:30 a.m. e.d.t.), recessed until later today after right-wing members urged the chamber to throw out both Bourges-Maunoury and his Algerian peace plan.

Deputies Hold Fate

Bourges - Maunoury's political fate lay with 130 wavering Conservative deputies. Their abstention would assure him of victory; but a vote against him would bring down his government and precipitate what could be France's gravest political crisis since the war.

The conservatives opposed Borges - Maunoury's home rule bill for Algeria on the grounds it gives too much power to that contry's nine million Moslems and not enough protection to its more than one million European settlers.

The fear in many political circles was that home rule for Algeria meant it would become an independent nation as did Morocco and Tunisia. Under French law it is regarded as part of metropolitan France.

Conservatives Reluctant

The Conservatives were known to be reluctant to bring on a government crisis on the Algerian issue because of the embarrassment it would cause France on the forthcoming United Nations debate on Algeria. Then, too, political observers have forecast a new crisis might end the fourth republic and cause France to revise its constitution to bring more stable government.

Bourges - Maunoury had the solid support of 252 left-wing members of the 596-member House of Deputies. He needed at least 29 votes to assure victory but could win with less if the Conservatives abstained.

Election

how to spell the candidate's name." Berger said.

Berger quoted a state Legislature Act of June 3, 1937, which applies to the duty of the board when irregular ballots are cast in a primary. The act states that votes cast on an irregular ballot must be computed and certified exactly as such names were written, stamped or affixed to the ballot by sticker."

In opposition, attorney D. J. Snyder pointed out that the election code does not state the votes shall not be cumulated.

Snyder said the courts have granted the county election boards the "quasi-judicial power to cumulate write-in votes cast for the same candidate under variations of his correct name."

"Furthermore, Snyder said, the courts have indicated that reference to 'persons' indicates the Legislature's intent of having votes counted for persons rather than names."

A similar case is being heard simultaneously by the court. It involved the Republican nomination for council in Arnold.

Alfred Colaianni won the Democratic nomination. He waged a write-in contest with James A. Richards on the GOP ticket.

The outcome of that battle also depends on whether or not the Elections Board should consider votes with names incorrectly spelled.

The court decision is expected to set a precedent since it will probably determine whether rules which apply to paper ballots also apply to voting machines.

dents back in school have already recovered."

Carter revealed that 40 per cent of the junior high students were absent; 30 per cent of the senior high students.

In the elementary grades, though, absentees were normal for the time of year, Carter said.

Unlike Monessen, the Rostraver teachers have thus far escaped. Only three out of more than 80 township instructors were suffering from the sickness today.

Robert VanBremen, supervising principal, at Bellmarette schools, also reported "Higher than usual" absenteeism in the district's junior and senior high schools.

VanBremen said there were no plans to suspend classes.

"We haven't nearly that many absent, yet," said VanBremen. "However we are keeping a close check on the situation and we'll go over it at a principals' meeting tomorrow."

W&J Plans for Homecoming on Saturday, Oct. 26

Homecoming at Washington and Jefferson College has been set for Oct. 26. This year's celebration will be highlighted by an eleven-float parade, Homecoming Queen contest, football game with Carnegie Tech and an alumni banquet at which W. & J. citations will be awarded to several alumni.

The ten fraternities and independents on campus will sponsor the floats, on each of which will appear a candidate for title of Homecoming Queen. The parade will get under way at 1:30 p.m.

The football game with Carnegie Tech begins at 2 p.m. at College Field following the parade and the day will end with the alumni banquet at 6:30 p.m. in the George Washington Hotel.

Plans for the Homecoming are in charge of the executive committee of the Alumni Association.

On the committee are: Dr. Boyd C. Patterson, W & J. president; Elmer W. Garvin Rosslyn Farms, president; Robert D. Vance, Washington, first vice president; Joseph H. Sullivan, Mt. Lebanon, second vice president; Charles M. Swart, Wheeling; J. Glenn Smith, Wilkinsburg; Jay Zeffiro, Donora; Andrew R. Cochrane, Fox Chapel; J. Earl Frazier, Washington.

Prosperity in 1979 Predicted by Members of N.Y. Stock Exchange

NEW YORK (UP) — In the cement floor under a plush rug of E. F. Hutton & Company's newest branch office lies a time capsule full of predictions of what things will be in 1979.

That's the year the Hutton firm will be 75 years old. The capsule will be opened then to see how close predictions match actual events.

The firm permitted the press to take a peek at the predictions. They portrayed a faster world—airplanes at 1,000 miles an hour, autos you put on the highway and let go by themselves under electronic control, mechanical typewriters which write as you dictate, faster communications, new metals, and so on.

But nothing was said about little men who apparently aren't going to be much smarter but a lot softer than they are today. Three cars in every garage aren't going to harden up one's muscles.

It looks as if little man will get just as many ulcers as he does today trying to predict the stock market.

Edward T. McCormick, president of the American Stock Exchange in his capsule prediction, looks for spectacular rises in many securities helped by developments in use of solar energy, travel in outer space, and atoms.

But, he warns, even then securities investment will be selective—like today.

"Many well-known companies will fall by the wayside," he says, "while others, some not yet born, will be market leaders.

"Overall we should be experiencing a period of prosperity in 1979."

Ruddick C. Lawrence, vice-president of the New York Stock Exchange, projects figures on the number of stockholders. He looks for between 15 million and 20 million of them when the capsule is opened.

No matter what happens to little men, it's apparently a sure thing that in the next 20 years, more brains or no, more ulcers or no, there are sure to be more and greater facilities to do almost anything but predict what stocks to buy, when to buy them, and when to sell them.

And no one predicts we'll be living in a tax free world.

With its time capsule snugly cemented in the floor, the Hutton firm proudly opened its new branch on Madison Avenue, home of advertising agencies, by cutting a chunk of last Friday's market tape.

The office itself apparently is a 1979 model with every gadget possible to make life easier for the prospective stock and commodity traders.

The clients will enjoy air-conditioned, sound - proofed quarters with a giant electric stock and commodity board, library, and reading room. "Quiet elegance" is the firm's description.

And when little men sit around all day in leaf green with ruby red upholstered armchairs, their muscles may soften, but will their heads harden sufficiently to stand a bit of stock market adversity?

Democratic Rally

The Westmoreland County Democratic Committee will hold a rally at Oakdale Park near West Newton Wednesday night for party workers from Sewickley and South Huntingdon townships, Jay W. Kromer, campaign chairman, announced today.

Plan for Reunification

BONN, Germany (UP) — Eric Ollenhauer, leader of West Germany's Socialist Party, urged the Western powers today to make "one final effort" in a new Big Four conference to overcome Soviet objections to reunification of Germany.

He said the West should be prepared to let West Germany pull out of the North Atlantic Treaty organization, if that is the Kremlin's price for a reunited Germany.

"But," he emphasized, "this would have to be on the basis of reciprocity. East Germany would have to pull out of the Warsaw pact at the same time and a reunified Germany become part and parcel of a broader European security system."

Ollenhauer conceded a new approach to the Soviets may not succeed in ending the Kremlin's opposition to reunification but said "the attempt should be made."

"Until it has been made we don't know whether the Soviets would allow reunification in return for our leaving NATO. They have never been asked that point blank . . .

"We should ask them point blank what are their own concrete proposals. I think one of the West's main weaknesses is that it has taken too rigid an attitude on this and made things too easy for the Russians.'

In colonial Virginia, each man had to carry a weapon to church for protection against the Indians.

Six Railroads Charge Conspiracy by Attorney

PITTSBURGH (UP)—Six railroads, charged with unlawful practices, have accused a Pittsburgh attorney of an alleged conspiracy to improperly solicit clients to divide millions of dollars in accident settlements.

Atty. James P. McArdle, who specializes in personal injury suits, opened the legal fireworks Saturday. He filed a suit in Federal Court charging the six railroads with unlawful practice, including intimidation and harassment of clients by railroad investigators and detectives.

The six railroads then accused McArdle and 14 other persons of conspiracy to improperly solicit clients and divide millions of dollars in settlements from hundreds of accident cases.

Each of the six railroads, in a suit filed in Allegheny County Common Pleas Court, asked an injunction restraining the defendants.

McArdle asked for an injunction to stop the railroads from 'taking any action which would impair" his ability to represent clients. He said railroad personnel was questioning his clients without permission.

The railroads contended McArdle and the other defendants have been tracking down injured workmen or next-of-kin of dead employes and encouraging them to file for damages.

The firms said that from Jan. 1, 1950, until the end of last August, McArdle and his associates have filed 528 damage suits and collected a total of $2,939,039 on 215 cases.

The railroads were the Pennsylvania, Union, Monongahela Connecting, Aliquippa and Southern, Pittsburgh and the Monongahela Railway Co.

Cortese Furio Dr. Joseph J. Pallone Bosco

DR. PALLONE HONORED — Dr. Joseph J. Pallone, superintendent of Monessen schools, was honored last night at a testimonial banquet arranged by the Monessen lodge of the Sons of Italy in connection with the 22nd anniversary of its founding. Dr. Pallone was presented with a point-sculpture in black marble by Edward Furio, venerable of the lodge. The principal speaker was Americo V. Cortese, a Philadelphia attorney and assistant grand venerable of the Sons of Italy in Pennsylvania. Frank Bosco was general chairman of the affair.

Pallone, America Honored at Sons of Italy Testimonial

Dr. Joseph J. Pallone, superintendent of Monessen schools, and America, land of opportunity, shared honors at a testimonial dinner at the Twin Coaches last night.

The affair was arranged by the local lodge of the Order Sons of Italy, which was celebrating the 22nd anniversary of its founding.

Born in Italy, Dr. Pallone led the guest speakers in a series of tributes to the adopted country which he called "America Unlimited" and whose atmosphere of freedom he said made his career in education possible.

The immigrant parents of Dr. Pallone, Mr. and Mrs. Patsy Pallone of Arnold and other members of their large family were present to see the superintendent honored.

Dr. Pallone came to Monessen last year from the principalship of Arnold High School.

Principal speaker was Americo V. Cortese, prominent Philadelphia attorney and assistant grand venerable of the Sons of Italy in Pennsylvania.

Like Dr. Pallone, Cortese was eloquent in his praise of America, describing it as "the great hope of the world in the struggle against Communism."

Presented Gift

America's freedom, Cortese said, is built on a foundation of universal education.

"Our honored guest," he said, "is entrusted with the education of 3,200 children of this community, the young men and women who will guide the destiny of this nation through the atomic age."

Dr. Pallone was presented with a point-sculpture in black marble executed by Prof. Francisco Bevlacqua, an Italian artist now working in Argentina.

Point-sculpture is a new medium combining painting and sculpture, and the work presented to Dr. Pallone is a portrait of two South American peasants.

The presentation was made on behalf of the Monessen lodge by its venerable, Edward Furio.

Ernest L. Biagi, grand recording secretary of the order, gave the superintendent a set of Italian classics, translated at Columbia University under the auspices of the Sons of Italy.

Mrs. Pallone, who shared the tributes with her husband, was given a bouquet of American Beauty roses by Mrs. Frank Bosco, wife of the general chairman of the dinner.

Dr. Phillip Anfuso, Italian vice consul at Pittsburgh, spoke briefly.

Great Privilege

The toastmaster was Henry Furio, principal of Monessen High School, who said Dr. Pallone was determined to give the city one of the finest school systems in Pennsylvania.

"It is a great privilege to work with him," Furio said.

Judge David H. Weiss represented Mayor Hugo J. Parente in an official greeting. District Attorney L. Alexander Sculco spoke for the county government, and President John Lancas was the spokesman of the school board.

The Rev. Leonard Sanesi, assistant pastor of St. Cajetan's Church, also spoke briefly. The invocation was by the Rev. Joseph A. Gajdosik, pastor of Holy Name Church.

During the dinner the more than 400 guests were entertained by Accordionist Franco Mori, of Reggio, Italy, who is visiting his uncle, Dean Mori, Belle Vernon RD

A floor show and dancing followed the speaking program.

Opens Drive to Rebuild Tomb of James Buchanan

LANCASTER, Pa. (UP) — A women's organization here has opened a drive to enlist Pennsylvania's schoolchildren i a campaign to finance the rebuilding of the tomb of President James Buchanan.

The Pilot Club, a women's service organization, sent more than 50,000 posters to schools throughout the state, asking for "Pennies for Our President," in the hope that the children's pennies will amount to a major portion of the $15,000 needed to rebuild the tomb of the 15th President, the only native Pennsylvanian to reach the White House.

Buchanan's Lancaster home, "Wheatland," has become of presidential memorial. He is buried in a private cemetery nearby, Woodward Hill, and thus public funds cannot be used for its restoration.

Club members said the ex-president's own specifications for his final resting place are to blame for its deterioration. He ordered Italian marble, but the stone has not stood up well in this cooler climate.

The club plans to replace the marble with more durable granite in exactly the same design, and set up an endowment plan for its maintenance.

A bachelor, Buchanan left no direct heirs and his collateral descendants have scattered, the members said.

Youth Stabbed in Back by Member Of Teen Gang

PHILADELPHIA (UP)- A 15-year-old North Philadelphia youth was stabbed in the back and partially paralyzed late Sunday by one of a gang of teenage thugs who accosted the victim and his brother near their home.

The victim, William Fluck, was taken to Woman's Medical College with critical spinal wounds.

Police said William and his brother, Alfred, 13, of 2636 N. 27th St., were attacked by about 15 toughs as the brothers were returning from a nearby grocery store. They demanded that Alfred hand over a package he was carrying and when he refused, they attacked him with clubs, bottles, and knives.

William stepped into the melee to aid his brother and one of the young gangsters thrust a knife into his back. It pierced his spinal column and partially paralyzed him.

Mrs. Elaine Fluck, 32, the boys' mother, called by Alfred, found her son unconscious on the sidewalk. He was rushed to the hospital where his general condition was described "as well as can be expected."

Interest Raised

DUBLIN (UP) — The Irish government followed Britain's lead Sunday by raising the bank rate for interest on loans. The rate went up from 5 per cent to 6. The British rate is 7 per cent. Ireland's economy is so closely tied to Britain's that the move was expected.

Mystery of Missing Newswoman Deepens

JOLIET, Ill. (UP)—The mystery surrounding the disappearance of a woman newspaper executive, believed kidnaped, deepened today despite a four-county search for some trace of the crusading newsman.

However, a brother of Amelia (Molly) Zelko, business manager of the weekly newspaper, The Spectator, indictated police may have found a possible cue in an intensive search of her apartment yesterday.

The brother, Louis Zelko, refused to discuss the possible lead, saying only "they (police) are working on it."

Miss Zelko vanished Wednesday night after leaving the newspaper office for her apartment. Her car was found parked in front of the apartment home the following morning, but she apparently never reached her second floor rooms.

Nearby residents reported hearing a woman scream for help, and her shoes were found near her car where she apparently kicked them off while struggling with her abductors.

The newspaper, for which Miss Zelko directed editorial policy, recently won a campaign to ban pinball machines in the city. It previously had crusaded against gambling in the area.

MISS AMELIA ZELKO, crusading executive of a weekly newspaper in Joliet, Ill., is the object of a search by police who believe she may have been kidnapped. The newspaper is noted for its crusades against gambling.

Ike Ends One Month Vacation In Rhode Island

NEWPORT, R.I. (UP)—President Eisenhower ends his often interrupted one-month vacation today with a round of golf before flying back to Washington.

Following a morning golf outing, Eisenhower planned to board the Presidential yacht "Barbara Anne" for the trip across Narragansett Bay to the Quonset Point naval air station. He and Mrs. Eisenhower were expected to take off in the presidential plane, the Columbine III, at about 3:15 p.m. e.d.t.

The President's first major order of business in the capital tomorrow will be a conference with five southern governors who have urged a quick withdrawal of federal troops from Little Rock, Ark. Although the President is certain to turn down the request, he hopes to use the conference for a broad discussion of general integration problems.

It is possible the President may leave Washington during the week to attend a World Series game at either New York or Milwaukee. Invitations to attend games in both cities were being considered, according to White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty.

Connellsville Up

CONNELLSVILLE, Pa. (UP)—The Connellsville Courier announced today a price increase from five to seven cents a copy because of higher operating costs.

School Closing Illegal, U. S. Officials Claim

WASHINGTON (UP)—Some government officials expressed doubt today that Gov. Orval E. Faubus or the Arkansas legislature can legally disintegrate Central High School in Little Rock.

Faubus was on the point of deciding whether to call the legislature into special session to see about closing racially - integrated Central High. One possibility he was considering was withdrawal of state funds from Central and reopening it under private sponsorship.

"That would be an act to evade the constitutional rights of the colored children," said one government legal source here in close touch with the Little Rock situation.

"The courts would not permit it. They (the state) would have to close down all the schools in Little Rock, not just the one racially-mixed school in the city."

This official said Arkansas could, if it wished, abolish its entire public school system to avoid integration. But he doubted the people of Arkansas are willing to pay "such a price."

President Eisenhower prepared to return to the capital late today to take personal command of his administration's fight to prevent interference with court - backed integration of Little Rock schools.

He faces a critical conference with five southern governors tomorrow that may decide the course not only of the Little Rock dispute but of southern school integration problems for years to come.

At least four of the five governors are prepared to press hard for prompt withdrawal of federal troops from Little Rock. Gov. Leroy Collins of Florida, one of the four and a so - called southern "moderate," warned today that the "drastic" troop intervention "has driven many people away from a moderate attitude on this problem."

"If we can relieve, it, it will be easier to have more people who are open minded and fair minded to reach an ultimate solution," he told the United Press.

On the other hand Eisenhower is reported grimly determined that court orders on school integration must not be blocked by mob violence as in Little Rock—even if he has to call out federal troops again.

The Political Effects Of Little Rock

IT IS DISTASTEFUL, we think, to many Americans to read the various efforts that are being made to forecast the political consequences of what has been happening at Little Rock. For what happens to the political parties and the politicians as a result of these events does not seem to be quite so important as what happens to the Negro children involved, to the public school system of the south and to the relationships in general between the races.

Yet we suppose this political speculation is inevitable. And whether it is distasteful or not, there are bound to be political consequences of Little Rock, and perhaps it is worth taking some trouble to discover them and understand them if we can.

* * *

IN ITS Sunday edition the New York Times published a comprehensive survey by its correspondents around the country who have been inquiring into the subject. And while it is too early for any final conclusions, some of the findings are worth nothing.

In the south the feeling seems to be that Little Rock has definitely checked the growth of the Republican party and perhaps has delayed indefinitely the establishment of an effective two-party system. The "states rights" issue has acquired new strength as a result of the President's use of federal troops.

But while the Republican party has lost in the south as a result of this incident, it is ironic that the Democratic party has lost also. At least the Democratic party of Harry Truman, Eleanor Roosevelt and Adlai Stevenson. The cleavage between this branch of the party and the southern leaders is deeper than ever.

In the north the consensus seems to be that the Republican party has gained new support among Negro voters. This support, it is felt, will take some time to "jell" because so many Negroes have made a habit of voting Democratic in the past 20 years. But the general observation is that when the average Negro stops to think about it, he will conclude that more concrete advances towards full civil rights seem to be made during Republican national administrations than during Democratic administrations. And there will be a growing tendency for the Negro to use his vote to express in some tangible fashion his support of what President Eisenhower has done.

* * *

ALL OF THIS, of course, is in the realm of speculation. Nobody really knows what the political effects of these events are going to be. And from our point of view, it would be best to consider such problems as school integration in a spirit as far removed from partisanship as we can possibly manage. After all, right is right and wrong is wrong, and a party label cannot change either the rightness or the wrongness.

Moreover, we think President Eisenhower is entitled to expect the nation's support without regard for political considerations. In fact, we do not see how he can lead us safely through the crisis otherwise.

Do It Right

THE CITY administration in Monessen has a major task confronting it in setting up arrangements for the enforcement of the new housing code which was adopted recently.

This law is the chief instrument in the city's hands for checking the deterioration of private property and making sure that blight does not slowly overtake all property values. The code is also a necessary tool for the protection of life and health.

But the effectiveness of the housing code in accomplishing these very desirable objectives is going to depend entirely upon the skill and determination with which it is enforced.

As a temporary measure the council has designated the acting city engineer as the acting enforcement officer under the housing code. And it has instructed him to begin immediately to put the law into effect.

The councilmen must realize, however, that this will not be good enough. For one thing the engineer is much too busy an official to be able to take on these heavy new responsibilities. And for another, the housing code is so complicated and technical in many of its provisions that it may require an administrator with some special training or experience in the field.

It is contemplated that these temporary arrangements will be changed towards the end of the year when the 1958 budget is adopted and provision is made for the salary and expenses of the housing administrator. The position undoubtedly will have to be a full-time one.

We feel sure the council has the right idea about the housing code and has been getting good advice as to how it ought to be enforced. And we hope everyone at the City Hall who is concerned with this matter in any way will be resolved from the start to make it a model of good municipal operation. If that is done, we feel confident the public will not only support the effort but will come to be proud of the results.

From London–

Conservative Party Slips In Britain

By ROSCOE DRUMMOND

LONDON — British and American politics are beginning to look more and more alike.

The Conservative party here is having the same trouble with British voters that the Republican party has been having with American voters — they are losing them.

Mr. Drummond

The Macmillan government is still firmly in the saddle in the House of Commons, but in virtually every by-election and every test of voter opinion the Conservatives are losing out.

The Eisenhower government is firmly ensconced in the White House by its own special voter appeal, but in every congressional election from 1954 to 1957 including Wisconsin last month, the Democratic party has held the upper hand and has been gaining strength.

Right now the more conservative parties in both countries are in trouble and the political outlook for each is not good. At this stage most of the evidence is on the side that the Conservative party here will not get back into office in the elections two years hence, as in the United States the Republican party has little chance of regaining Congress next fall.

Striking Parallels

There are two striking parallels between the political trends in Britain and in the United States. I would put them this way:

1—The parties out of office in both countries — the Labor party in Britain and the Democratic party in the United States — are numerically the majority party. A whole series of British Gallup polls shows Labor well in the lead if an election were held today. In the United States there are far more voters who identify themselves as Democrats than as Republicans and it is evident that America is pro-Eisenhower and pro-Democratic at the same time.

2—The Conservative party in Britain and the Republican party in the United States are continuing to lose strength, not gain it.

In the 29 by-elections which have been held here since Anthony Eden's relatively substantial victory in 1955, the Conservative party's majorities have been cut consistently and substantially. It has lost two seats and picked up none.

Democrats Gain

The same thing has been happening in the United States. When President Eisenhower was not running in 1954, the Democrats won control of both Houses of Congress and when President Eisenhower was running and winning massively in 1956, the Democrats increased their control of both Houses of Congress. The Democratic victory in Wisconsin, suggests that this trend is unabated.

3—The balance of power in both countries in increasingly with the independent, the switch, voter.

This was manifested here anew in the Gloucester by-election this month. The Conservatives lost support on a large scale; Labor gained hardly at all; the Liberal party with only five seats in Parliament was the beneficiary. In other words the British independent voters, dissatisfied with Macmillan but not really desirous of turning to Labor, either stayed at home or decided to mark time by voting Liberal.

Macmillan Slipping

The settled, almost continuously committeed vote behind the Conservative and Labor parties is breath-takingly close. In the whole nation Labor had an edge of 795,000 votes when it won in 1950 and the Conservative because of unusual distribution won a Parliamentary majority in 1951 although its total vote was 214,000 lower than the Labor vote. The Conservative majority over Labor in 1955 was only 846,000.

This is what makes the present anti-Conservative trend more perilous for the Macmillan government.

Last week it acted boldly and courageously to defend the pound and check inflation. But the immediate consequences of these heroic measures will be politically unpopular.

Merry-Go-Round–

An Interview with Hussein

(Editor's Note: Drew Pearson today continues his reports from the explosive Near East.)

By DREW PEARSON

AMMAN, Jordan — King Hussein of Jordan is a youngster of 23 who has spent most of his life absorbed in sports cars, airplanes, and women. Suddenly he has found the weight of the world upon his shoulders.

Mr. Pearson

His grandfather, King Abdullah, was shot and killed as he prayed in the great mosque of Jerusalem because he wanted to make peace with Israel. Hussein's father became mentally ill. And the young prince, a callow youth just out of boarding school in England, inherited the throne — one of the shakiest, yet one of the most important in the Near East.

Those who know Hussein well say he has aged 10 years in the last two. The American Embassy staff who entertain him at informal dances and barbecues say he is dignified, modest, has given up the women-chasing ways that brought him fame and caused his beautiful Egyptian wife to leave Jordan.

Though it's difficult to judge from quick impressions, I found him modest, sincere, and thoroughly familiar with the heavy burden weighing upon his royal head.

A King's Problems

I also found him to be the most carefully guarded personage I interviewed in the entire Middle East — for understandable reasons. At the foot of the hill on which stands the royal palace, your car is stopped while the guard phones the King's secretary. At the top of the hill, around the palace, pace the famed, colorful Arab Legion, once paid by the British and trained by Glubb Pasha. Inside the palace are more guards dressed in the shiny black boots, the tight coat, and the tall lambskin hat of the cossack.

Inside, waiting for audiences with the King was a long line of advisers, cabinet members, ambassadors — the head of the Moslem Brotherhood which has assassinated Arab leaders when they leaned toward friendship with Israel; the very intelligent Jordanian Ambassador to Germany, Farhan Ishbailat, on his way to a new post in Iraq; the Chief of Staff, Habis Majali; the astute Turkish Ambassador, Mahmut Dikerdem; and leaders of Parliament presenting the King with the ticklish problem of whether to call back into session a Parliament some of whose members have been hanged for treason, some remaining in exile, and some by no means loyal to him.

These are the problems the little 23-year-old King of Jordan must decide. I could tell from talking to these dignitaries and from others that he really runs his show. He is King of Jordan in fact as well as name. He decided, incidentally, to call Parliament back into session, despite the headaches it will present him. Its members reconvene tomorrow (Oct. 1).

Worried Over Israel

The room in which the King received me looks more like a modern business office than a throne room. A black mahogany table stood under a portrait of his late grandfather, King Abdullah. Under a broad window were two chairs, where we sat, and an oriental tabaret.

Drew Pearson interviews King Hussein in his palace at Amman, capital of Jordan.

"The internal problems we experienced last spring, the threat of Communism are over now," he told me when I asked how his desert kingdom was progressing.

"We still have some problems, of course —" he continued, speaking in excellent English. "Our borders with Israel where we face the danger of attack, and the fact that one-third of our population are refugees. This is more than a country of our size can handle, and would be a difficult element in any country."

The King referred to the 400,000 Arab refugees from Israel living in camps in Jordan, most of them bitter against him because he has accepted aid from the United States and England, both regarded as friends of Israel.

"When I was in Israel," I told King Hussein, "I found that the Israelis were terribly worried about an attack from you. Yet you seem worried about an attack from them."

"We have reason to believe that Israel wants to enlarge her borders," the King observed, "that she feels she cannot live without taking the high ground which we hold along the mountain slopes. We have to protect ourselves from aggression and worry about it at all times. Unfortunately, the military drain is more than our economy can stand."

Lonely Prisoner

I had learned from others that the King, in private, is more reasonable toward Israel than most Arab leaders, but cannot afford to say so, either politically of fof his own safety. He can't forget that his grandfather was killed for wanting to make peace with Israel. So I sounded him out on Harry Truman's plan to resettle the refugees by a big irrigation development plan for the Near East, which might bring peace between Israel and the Arab states. Either I did not explain the idea clearly, or the King wanted to avoid part of the question.

"We had great hopes from the Eric Johnston plan for getting irrigation water from the Jordan River, but that failed of agreement in the end," he said. "Our development of minerals in the Dead Sea has been held up because of the uncertainty of our boundaries, but we hope to go ahead there soon."

The King talked at length about the mineral resources and other capabilities of his country. Despite his youth and many years abroad, he talked like a man who knew his country well. But he was never specific about the burning question which troubles the Near East. How can the Arabs make peace with Israel?

"What precautions are you taking for your life when you travel abroad?" I asked, remembering how Kihg Alexander of Yugoslavia was killed in Marseilles and how Trotsky was murdered by Stalin's henchmen in Mexico.

"Excellent," replied the King who has had more atttmpts on his life in his 23 years than any other monarch in 50.

As I went out the door and saw six motorcycle police with two heavily armed jeeps waiting to escort him to lunch, I realized the truth of what he said. But I also realized that the young King is a very lonely prisoner.

What Is Democrats' Integration Policy?

By LYLE C. WILSON

WASHINGTON (UP) — Reasonable questions right now would be:

Who is making policy for the Democratic Party on the question of integration? And—

What is the policy?'

Mr. Wilson

The questions arise naturally from public statements or responsible Democrats. First up was the advisory committee of the Democratic National Committee, the former created by party chairman Paul M. Butler last winter to make national committee policy.

from public state

In mid-month, 15 members of the 25-member advisory committee announced that Gov. Orval E. Faubus of Arkansas "does not represent the position or policy of the Democratic Party."

"The first responsibility of a governor is to uphold the federal Constitution," the advisers added.

Statement Amplified

Chairman Butler amplified the committee's policy statement. He said it meant that the Democratic Party stood firmly behind the Supreme Court decisions and "expected Democratic governors to enforce them."

The chairman must have been mistaken about that. Three days after his advisory committee's pronouncement Virginia's Democratic Party made a policy statement. Virginia will elect a governor and other state officers in November. These Democratic candidates devoted half of their 1957 platform to schools and school problems. Of integration, the Virginia Democrats said:

"Let there be no misunderstandings, no weasel words, on this point: We dedicate our every capacity to preserve segregation in the schools."

Policy In Dispute

Some other southern states will stand with Virginia on that, leaving the party policy less established than in bitter dispute. The policy will be formalized, finally, in 1960 at the Democratic National Convention.

The northern Democrats who pack the advisory committee punch may have decided the time has come to read out of the party such elements as Virginia Democrats. The Virginia and South Carolina delegations almost were thrown out of the 1952 Democratic National Convention.

The advisory committee, intentionally or not, is heavily weighted against the South whose leaders can be expected to repudiate committee efforts to make party policy. Democrats country-wide will be compelled to choose between these groups of policy-makers at the party's next nominating convention.

It is beginning to add up toward another third party move in 1960.

The Lighter Side–

At Last! Man Develops Sea-going Ranch House

By DOC QUIGG

NEW YORK (UP) — Out on Long Island there's a man who is building himself a $50,000 ranch house of the ultra-luxury type—three cedar-paneled bedrooms, two tile baths wall-to-wall carpeting, and a large living room with a big wood-burning fireplace, three picture windows, and a hatch in the floor that can be lifted for fishing.

Yep, fishing.

This is a sea-going ranch house.

"I designed this houseboat and it's something new in boating," said Larry Vita. "I keep calling it a sea-going ranch house because that's exactly what it is. I built it as a home for myself. I'm single, and I thought I'd like to have a home on the water—a childhood desire of mine.

"Now I find there's a definite market for it. There's no land taxes to pay. No lawns to mow. No landscaping. I'm a contractor, the Vita Construction Co. of Smithtown, N. Y., and I've been in building construction 14 years, but I'm going to give it up to build these things.

Three Orders Already

"I've already got three definite orders and about six more are in the works. I'll build to a person's particular needs—from about $7,000 up to $50,000, or higher. This one I'm finishing is a super-duper job."

The house that floats like a boat—Vita has named it Driftwood—is in the harbor at Northport. It will be finished late next month, at which time Vita plans to cruise up the East River off Manhattan and let New Yorkers gawk at it. He already has had it out on trial runs. Three concealed, 60-horsepower outboard motors give it a 10-knot top speed and 8-knot cruising speed.

"The other day I took it out all by myself — one man can operate it," he said. "The motors sit one on each side of the stern, and the other is center forward, and it does the steering—something like a three-wheel auto. I can do maneuvering tricks with it that the average boat can't do.

"Two of my men and I built it in 16 months as a spare time project. One completely new thing we've done is have 58 separate watertight hull compartments made of marine plywood and fiberglass covered. That makes the hull very light; it draws only seven inches of water. People just can't visualize this. She's 28 feet wide, 60 feet long, and weighs about 26 tons right at the moment."

The Driftwood is low and sleek, white-hulled, and the ranchhouse part is light blue, with a white pilot house sitting on its roof. The pilot house doubles as a penthouse bedroom. The motors and anchor can be operated from the pilot house.

The living room is 32 by 20 feet. It will have television, ship-to-shore telephone and all home conveniences. The picture windows, each 12 feet wide and 4 feet long, wil go up and down electrically, by pushbutton (Vita is the inventor of this type window and has a separate company marketing them). The fishing hatch is 4 by 4 feet, the fireplace 6 feet across, the bedrooms 11 by 12.

The house will be heated by gas, will have a freezer, clothes washer and dryer, convertible couch double-beds in the bedrooms and under each picture window. The living room converts to three staterooms by means of draw drapes, so the whole house sleeps 12 comfortably. A combination kitchen-bar is in one corner of the living room. But the thing that tickles passers-by is seeing fish being caught through the floor.

Marriage of Area Couple Announced

Solemnized in the Olive Branch Baptist Church of Belle Vernon R. D. on Saturday, Sept. 21, was the marriage of Sandra Kaye Hixenbaugh and Barry G. Eberts.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Hixenbaugh of Belle Vernon R. D. 3, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Eberts, also of Belle Vernon R. D. 3.

Vows were exchanged at 6 o'clock in the evening before an altar banked with ferns, palms and fall flowers. White crash lined the church aisle and satin bows marked the family pews.

The Rev. Henry Frank, church pastor, officiated. The bride entered the church with her father, who gave her in marriage.

Wears Brocade

The bridal gown was styled of brocaded taffeta. It was white with a floor length skirt and fitted bodice accented with seed pearls. She wore a fingertip veil held to a matching headpiece, and carried a cascade bouquet of pink and white carnations.

Marlene Hixenbaugh, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. She wore a gown of yellow brocaded silk taffeta with a matching veil. Her bouquet was a cascade arrangement of blue tipped white carnations.

Charles Eberts, uncle of the bridegroom, was best man. Ushers were Clifford Breckenridge and Glen Eberts.

Mothers Attend

The bride's mother wore a black crepe dress, white accessories and a red rose corsage. The mother of the bridegroom wore a navy blue dress with light blue accessories and a red rose corsage.

A reception in the social room of the church supplemented the nuptial rites. The decorations were in a yellow and green color scheme. The bridal table was laid in white and centered with a tiered wedding cake topped with a miniature bridal couple. Antique candelabra held yellow and white tapers.

There were 150 guests in attendance from Youngstown, Cleveland, Ohiopyle, McKees Rocks, Perryopolis, Stockdale and area towns.

Mr. and Mrs. Eberts plan to reside in Belle Vernon R. D. 3. Both attended Rostraver Schools. Mr. Eberts is employed at the Westinghouse Atomic Plant at Bettis Field.

Patricelli-Martin Nuptials Take Place in Fayette City

Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Martin are residing in their own apartment in Uniontown after a brief wedding trip, which followed their marriage on Saturday, Sept. 21.

Mrs. Martin before her marriage was Sally Patricelli. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Patricelli of Uniontown. Mr. Martin is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Martin of Fayette City R. D. 1.

For her wedding the brde selected a beige silk dress fashioned along sheath lines with a high neckline with white accents. Her accessories were brown, and she wore a small brown feathered hat. Her corsage was an orchid.

The bride asked her sister-in-law, Mrs. Dolores Patricelli, to be her matron of honor. Her ensemble was in a charcoal gray shade.

Best man was Sam Patricelli, brother of the bride.

The nuptial ceremony took place in St. Edward Church of Fayette City with the Rev. Charles Ribick officiating.

Supplementing the ceremony was a wedding breakfast at the home of the bride's parents, and later in the day there was dinner and a reception. A tiered wedding cake centered the bridal table.

The new Mrs. Martin was graduated from Redstone High School, and has been employed at her father's Dari-Delight near Uniontown. Mr. Martin attended Marion School and is employed at the Pittsburgh Steel Co. Allenport Plant.

Quota Club Will Convene On Wednesday

The Quota Club of Monessen will meet on Wednesday evening at 6:30 o'clock in Johnson's restaurant.

It will be a social meeting, and the program theme will be "United Nations" with the inter-club committee in charge. Comprising this committee are Bessie Preston, Helen Gribben, Betty Vincent and Teresa Parise.

Also being planned as an October event is a card party.

Democrat Club Changes Date For Meeting

A change has been announced in the date for the October meeting of the Women's Democrat Club, which usually convenes the second Monday of the month.

The meeting has been rescheduled for Tuesday, Oct. 8, at 8 o'clock promptly. It will be held in the Slovak Home, and a guest speaker will be presented after a short meeting.

Mrs. Mary Sassak, chairman of a recent fund raising project, asks that all co-chairmen make their reports.

A Halloween social will follow the meeting.

Roland Shawley Is Honored at Birthday Fete

Roland Shawley Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Roland Shawley of Athalia Ave., was honored guest at a party at his home on Saturday afternoon. The affair marked his second birthday anniversary.

The guest list included Nancy Shawley, Craig Ruokonen, Beverly Kay Hazlett, Linda, Debbie and Donna Jean Rosborough, Betty Mandzok, Dorothy Jean and Walter Boyd.

All of the children were awarded prizes after games were played.

Luncheon was served from a table centered with a large cake decorated in a circus motif. It was topped with a merry-go-round, ferris wheel and other circus equipment.

Roland was presented with many gifts.

'Speaking of Beauty'
"WE KNOW YOU'RE DIFFERENT"
By James V. Bonafed

No "carbon-copy cuts" for our salon! Of course, we advertise the siren lift cut, and advocate the new sports short styling. They're new and most attractive! But please note, my fair lady: No two of these styles will ever leave our salon looking exactly alike! That's because we believe you are an individual . . . and you are!

No one in the whole world looks exactly like you
Not even an "identical twin" is just like her sister! So we adapt every new fashion, every hair cut, to your features alone. For instance, if yours is a round face, we avoid a "round" style, even it you have set your heart on one you saw on somebody else! But we'll show you why just a bit of extra height here, a special curl there gives special interest to your prettiest feature . . . the curve of your lips maybe, or the colour of your eyes.

**

Consider the shape of your face. We do, first, last, and always! But a good professional hairdresser doesn't stop there. Many things go together to make up the right silhouette for you . . . and that's what a hairstyle really is, a silhouette that flatters your whole figure! So we also consider your height, your posture, your neck and shoulders. We custom-create a style that doesn't just flatter your face . . . it pleases your profile and looks right from back or sides . . . makes folks turn to look at you as you walk on the street.

Have you made a mistake by looking into your mirror?
Many women who think it's simple to "do their own" hairstyle see it just from the front, face only, in their mirror! They miss the fact that it's too bushy behind, giving a "homemade look". Or the "easy-to-keep" neckline is a neckline they should have stopped wearing five years ago! We, as professionals, see a good many things when we analyze you. We're trained to make the most of your prettiest features—and to find subtle ways to hide the features you're not proud of. Let our knowledge make you "years prettier"!

By all means, show us a picture!
If you have your heart set on a hairstyle you saw in a fashion or movie magazine, don't be bashful . . . bring it in and show it to us! We'll do our very best to adapt the style for you . . . with a special twist that makes it yours alone. Most important hair fashion in all the world . . . because it does the most for you! Or avail yourself of our most artful services, and leave the style up to us. That's what we professional stylists are here for . . . to make you the importantly pretty person you ought to be!

Dietician Feted By C-M Employes

The employes of the Dietary Department of the Charleroi-Monessen Hospital honored Gloria MacFarlene, dietician, at a surprise housewarming on Wednesday evening.

She recently moved into a new home at 1320 Country Club Rd., Monongahela R. D. The evening was spent informally in group singing, and later there was a wiener roast.

The guest of honor was presented with gifts for her home by the many guests.

Communion Breakfast Set

Members of Our Lady of Fatima chapter of the Catholic Business and Professional Women's Club of the Greensburg Diocese will have their first special activity on Sunday, Oct. 6.

The women will attend the 9 a. m. mass at St. Hyacinth Roman Catholic Church, and a breakfast will be served in the church hall after. At this time the program for the year will be outlined. Each member will receive a year book from Mrs. Raymond Jozwaik, who is in charge of the program.

A meeting was held by the club members last Wednesday in the Park Casino. This was the first get-together of the 1957-58 club season for the Monessen unit.

Mrs. H. C. Behrendt, president, was in charge. The club theme for the year is "Garlands of Virtues and Viewpoints." The Rev. Leonard Sanesi, assistant at St. Cajetan Roman Catholic Church, was appointed as moderator for the local group by Msgr. Cyril Vogel. At the initial meeting he discussed the subject, "Faith and the Effect of Study Clubs."

Officers who will head the club this year along with Mrs. Behrendt include Mrs. Jozwiak, vice president; Mrs. Mary McCleary, recording secretary; Ann Gerbin, corresponding secretary and Christine Kerekes, treasurer.

Mrs. Jozwiak replaced Mrs. Walter Mealy, who moved from town.

After the Wednesday session games were played. The committee in charge included Mrs. Mary Helon, Mrs. Betty Fayer, Mrs. Emma Kerestes and Virginia Forman.

October Bazaar Set This Week By Confraternity

The annual October bazaar conducted by the Confraternity of Christian Mothers of the Most Holy Name of Jesus Church will open on Thursday afternoon with a children's matinee.

All activities in the church hall, where the bazaar will be in session on Thursday, Friday, Saturday and Sunday, will be for the young folks at the matinee. There will be games, refreshments and many other special attractions.

Mrs. Mary Stofan, chairman, with Mrs. Mary Bartus and Mrs. Sue Martin as co-chairmen, along with a large committee completed plans for the affair. Friday evening there will be a bean and pirohi supper and orders may be taken out if they are placed previously.

Pizza will be the Saturday specialty, and there will be a card and game party on Sunday evening to conclude the event, which annually attracts a large crowd of church people and their friends.

Flu Almost Stopped 'Hounds - Raiders

You'll never know how close the flu-bug (Asian version or otherwise) came to postponing the Monessen-Uniontown game Friday night . . . Had the list of 'Hound gridders on the sick list increased Friday morning (which it didn't) the game was definitely going to be called off as Uniontown was in complete agreement . . . The Munhall-Canonsburg tilt was called off and several others threatened with postponement . . . If this is just the beginning of the flu threat, we hate to think of what it might do to the football schedule before the season is over . . . Let's hope most of the district football players get flu shots before too long.

The State Justice Department has ruled that county treasurers cannot limit sale of anterless deer licenses to residents of their counties . . . In a formal opinion to the State Game Commission, written by Deputy Attorney General John Sullivan, the department said the county officers were required to issue licenses to "all applicants who are residents of Pennsylvania." . . . The question arose because a provision in the game laws restricts issuance of the licenses to "residents." . . . There was some question whether the word "residents" could be construed to mean only residents of the particular county . . . But the opinion held that the term embraced all residents of the state.

Congratulations in Order for Yartin

Congratulations are in order for Andy Yartin, former Monessen athlete who is doing wonders with the West Newton grid team, having won two and tied one in three starts with a team which most observers said would lose two of those games . . . The Hornets were especially underdogs in the South Huntingdon clash but terrific defensive play turned the tide after a blocked punt gave the Yartinmen a quick TD . . . Fayette City's Jim Hamer, the NFL football official, really wowed the Charleroi Quarterback Club this past week with stories on the NFL players, some complimentary, some not so . . . He also made a pitch again for his "baby" the Commissioner plan for high school football officials.

Fun-loving Frank Camino suggested at last week's Rostraver Lions Club meeting (we hear) that the Lions purchase 40 horses for the Leopard grid team so they wouldn't have to walk home (referring to the "incident" after the West Newton game) but the suggestion naturally fell on very deaf ears . . . In fact President Tom Patterson refused to recognize Mr. Frank . . . It was all in fun and no one was hurt so Frank got his laugh . . . Bill Liethold, who used to keep score for those fine Marion High grid teams a few years back, is now an ardent Pitt fan . . . In fact he made the trip to Oregon for the game Saturday night . . . He also traveled to the Gator Bowl game last year.

Today's Sports Parade—

Many Fine Comebacks In Majors During '57

By OSCAR FRALEY

NEW YORK (UP) — The long baseball haul is over today for another season and the two biggest surprises have to be the two future Hall of Famers — Ted Williams and Stan Musial—who won the major league batting championships.

Williams overcame a severe virus and the young slasher named Mickey Mantle to win the American League title with a dazzling mark of .388 while "Stan the Man" left behind such challengers as Willie Mays and Hank Aaron to take the National League batting crown with .351.

But they weren't the only surprises.

Some of the others included:

Bobby Shantz' comeback; the decline of Robin Roberts; the rookie feats of Jack Sanford of the Phillies, Bob (Hurricane) Hazle of the Braves and Dick Drott of the Cubs; Cincinnati's big skid; the surge of the St. Louis Cardinals; the failure of Don Newcombe of the Dodgers; the comeback of Billy Loes of the Orioles; the tailing off of Yogi Berra, and the hit production of veteran Gene Woodling of the Indians.

Shantz Amazing

The Shantz story is one of the major surprises. In the spring he was regarded as merely a possible relief pitcher, after a 2-7 mark at Kansas City the year before. But his 11-5 mark at 32 was amazing.

Time ran out on the Cardinals, but they could have been the Cinderella team. Still, they have to rate here as the big surprise club of the year. Cincinnati, on the other hand, was the big flop. In the end it was the pitching which put the skids to the Redlegs.

Sanford, the Phils' rookie, displayed evidence of future greatness as he won 19 games and Drott, who wasn't even on the Cub roster in the spring, gathered 15 victories to attain stardom. Hazle was a mere .280 hitter at Wichita when the Braves brought him up and he'll be one of their starters—and a hard-hitting one—in the Series.

Woodling at 35 pulled a feat which almost was in a class with the efforts of Williams and Musial. A mere .260 hitter last season, he finished this year at .322. Loes, too, made the great comeback. A pitcher who won only two games a year ago, he took 12 for the Orioles against only seven defeats.

Bad Year For Yogi

Berra's season was a backward surprise. Yogi still ranks among the best as a catcher but he had, for him, a miserable year at the plate. Newcombe, too, knows again how Lady Luck can frown on her favorites. The most valuable everything last year when he won 27 games, big Don had an 11-12 season of mediocrity.

But it was a surprisingly gloomy year for Roberts. He won 19 the year before, after six straight seasons in which he was a 20-game winner. But the hitters finally got even as Roberts suffered 22 defeats.

Juniors To Host Donora

Monessen's Junior High's home opener with Donora set for Wednesday night at the Stadium will be played providing the flu does not hit anymore of the students at the high school and junior high here, according to school officials.

The Little Dragons are scheduled to appear here Wednesday at 7:30 o'clock to help the locals open the home grind.

Coach Al Romasco's lads opened the '57 season away chalking up a 13-6 win over Brownsville last week.

The flu, which has felled nearly 700 students in the Monessen schools has already caused cancellation of the Jayvee game with McKeesport originaly carded for tonight.

Romasco said he planned no lineup changes providing the flu "leaves the squad alone" for the team which went against Brownsville played alert ball and took advantage of every break."

Brownsville led in first downs in that game but the locals came back to take the victory.

NY Giant Fans Go Wild, Damage Polo Grounds

By MILTON RICHMAN
United Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (UP) They tore up the turf, they tore up the seats, they tore up home plate and if Giant owner Horace Stoneham had been around, they would have torn him up, too.

"We want Stoneham — with a rope around his neck!"

That was the angry chant of a mob which surged against the center-field clubhouse after the San Francisco - bound New York Giants wound up their playing days at the Polo Grounds for all time Sunday by dropping to 9-1 decision to the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Of the 11,606 fans who turned out for the finale, Mrs. John McGraw showed the most emotion.

"I'm not thinking of this as the last game here," said the widow of the Giants' famed manager, dabbing at her eyes with a handkerchief. "I'm just thinking of this as the end of another season."

Some of the fans sawed off parts of grandstand seats to carry home as souvenirs. Then one group made a rush for home plate, digging up and lugging it away. Other fans took out for the outfield where they scooped up huge chunks of sod.

When it was all over, the Polo Grounds had been picked clean.

Many Giant stars of yesteryear were honored in brief pre - game ceremonies and most of them came back to the clubhouse for one last nostalgic look after the game was over.

"It doesn't matter where we go," said former southpaw ace Carl Hubbell, "This place will always be home to me."

Hubbell said his most vivid memory of the Polo Grounds was the 18-inning 1-0 victory he pitched over the St. Louis Cardinals in 1933.

Bellmar Finds Offensive Punch In 19-6 Win Over Penn Joint

Coach Bap Manzini's Bellmar High Hurricanes began to pick up offensive steam Saturday night at Penn Joint as they topped Penn Joint, 19-6, for the second Class A win in two starts for the 'Canes.

The Manzinmen had scored only two touchdowns in their first two starts, (a loss to Perryopolis and a win over Centerville) but found some scoring punch this week and rolled to victory.

Break on First Score

A break gave Bellmar its first touchdown, however, when a Penn Joint pass from center on punt formation went over the kickers head and Bellmar recovered on the opponents' 10.

Two plays later Reggie Kostelace pile-driving 'Cane fullback, cracked over from the three on a pitch-out and Ron Coastes. Quarterback Ron Coastes sneaked for the extra point.

Two more scores were added by the 'Canes on long runs, one a 30-yarder by Kostelace on another pitch-out and a beautiful 80-yard pass interception run by Coastes.

The lone Penn Joint score came in the third quarter when Slater went over for six points but failed on the extra point try for Coach Regis Kelley's Claridge eleven.

TD Called Back

Kostelac also had a 40-yard run to his credit on a pitch-out play in the third quarter but the play was called back for pushing when the rugged fullback tried to "hurry" his interference

Next start for the 'Canes is at German Township Friday night The next home tilt is against Elizabeth-Forward on Thursday, Oct 10.

'Lucky' Pitt in Training for USC Tilt Friday Night

EUGENE, Ore. (UP) — The University of Pittsburgh opened practice here today for its game with Southern California Friday night in the Los Angeles Coliseum.

The Panthers, who eked out a 6-3 victory over the Oregon Webfoots Saturday night, are using the facilities of their unlucky rivals before moving south to battle the Trojans.

Coach Johnny Michelosen had nothing but praise for the two Panther subs who pulled the Oregon game out of the fire in the closing seconds Sophomore quarterback Ivan Toncic, Midland, Pa., and junior end Art Gob, of Baldwin, Pa., engineered the 22-yard pass play that gave the Panthers victory.

Toncic replaced regular quarterback Bill Kaliden, who had been shaken up in the last minute of play. Toncic got a first down on the Oregon 26 Then, after calling a play around end good for four yards, he fired a pass to Gob who was waiting in the end zone. Norton Seaman missed the extra point.

It was the first pass Toncic had thrown in varsity competion. Ther were only 22 seconds left in the game when the pass play was called.

Jane Cheroki's 179 Eagles Loop Highlight

Jane Cheroki's 179 single game mark was the highlight of the Eagles Ladies Bowling League action over the weekend Three-game honors went to Betty Parente with a 394.

The Canaries, Bluejays, Wrens and Robins copped victories over the Cardinals, Chickadees, Orioles and Parakeets.

Marty Stetsko, Connie Magatz, Mary Anderchek, Helen Wolford, Violet Slebodnik, Julia Fritz and Thea Dominico were also top-notch scorers.

Standings — Bluejays 10-2 Robins 9-3, Parakeets 7-5, Canaries 7-5-7, Chickadees 4-8, Wrens 4-8, Cardinals 2-10.

Galaski Stars In Waynesburg's 19-19 Deadlock

Ex-Greyhound gridder Ed Galaski featured in Waynesburg College's thrilling 19-19 tie with Geneva at Beaver Falls Saturday night

Waynesburg came from behind in the final 35 seconds of play here Saturday night to deadlock Geneva, 19-19 The Yellow Jackets, opening their 1957 campaign, nearly won the game as Dave Atkinson grabbed a Covie aerial and ran 50 yards for a touchdown which was called back for holding

Trailing by a 19-12 count with less than three minutes to play, quarterback Art Walker began firing to Galaski and with fourth down and goal to go on the Geneva 7, climaxed an 83-yard march with a payoff pass to Galaski Norm Williams booted the extra point to create the deadlock

After Atkinson nearly pulled the contest out of the fire, Geneva's ace halfback Willie Taylor intercepted a Waynesburg pass and ran to the Geneva 43 as the game ended. The penalty against the Jackets had put them on the Covie 29, from where the intercepted pass was thrown.

Panthers First in Demo Women's Loop

First Place in the Monessen Democratic Women's Bowling League still belonged to the Panthers today following a 3-0 blanking of the Leopards The Lions stayed close behind with a 3-0 victory over the Tigers

Marie Foster had the single game high of 137 while the three-game honors went to Mary Jane D'Annibale with a 352. Rose Grillo and Mary Timcoe also rolled high games just behind the two leaders.

Standings — Panthers 6-3, Lions 5-4, Tigers 4-5, Leopards 3-6.

Gallatin Ahead In Soccer Play

Gallatin defeated Roscoe, 2-1, while Van Voorhis and Avella battled to a 2-2 deadlock in Washington County Soccer League games played yesterday.

Big Ten Teams Seen Giving Okies Run for National Football Honors

By TIM MORIARTY

Based on their opening - game victories, at least four teams from the Big Ten Conference should give defending champion Oklahoma a real tussle for this year's national college football crown.

While Oklahoma enjoyed an open date last Saturday, Michigan State, Minnesota, Iowa and Michigan stole some of the Sooners' thunder the first time they flexed their muscles this season.

Michigan State employed 67 players in an effort to keep the score respectable but still wound up with a 54-0 triumph over Indiana; Minnesota trampled Washington, 46-7; Iowa ran up its highest score in 43 years in blasting Utah State, 70-14; and Michigan turned back Southern California, 16-6.

Oklahoma swings back into action this week against Iowa State in a Big Eight conference game. This contest shaped up an another "breather" for the Sooners until last week end when Iowa State displayed surprising scrap in battling Syracuse to a 7-7 tie.

The Big Ten's "big" boys" have Saturday dates with comparatively weak non - league opponents. Michigan State visits California, which dropped a 13-7 verdict to Washington State; Minnesota hosts Purdue, which suffered a 12-0 shutout at the hands of rebounding Notre Dame: Michigan entertains Georgia, a 9-6 loser to Vanderbilt; and Iowa hosts Washington State, fresh from its victory over California.

Aggies Look Impressive

Texas A&M, ranked second behind Oklahoma last week, looked impressive once again in bowling over Texas Tech, 21-0. But the Aggies may not find things as easy this week when they visit Missouri, a 35-13 winner over Arizona.

Among the other top - ranked teams, Navy is at North Carolina, Tennessee hosts Mississippi State Duke entertains Maryland and Oregon State is at Northwestern.

Third-ranked Georgia Tech will draw a one-week respite and can use it after being held to a surprising scoreless tie by Southern Methodist. In other week - end shockers, Auburn handed Tennessee a 7-0 defeat on a touchdown by Billy Atkins; Texas Christian fought off a last-ditch Ohio State rally for an 18-14 victory; Columbia presented new coach Buff Donelli with a 23-20 opening game victory over Brown, and Dick Christy scored three touchdowns, including a 96-yard kickoff return, as North Carolina State smashed Maryland, 48-13.

Navy posted its second straight run-away victory of the new season, rolling over William & Mary, 33-6, as Dick Dagampat scored two touchdowns; Wray Carlton's four touchdowns helped Duke beat Virginia, 40-0, and Oregon State overpowered Kansas, 34-6.

Army Wins Opener

Army opened its season by crushing Nebraska, 42-0, rolling up 341 yards rushing in the process The Air Force Academy made it an all-victorious day for the service schools, bouncing back from its beating by UCLA to defeat Occidental, 40-6.

The week end's other heroes: A touchdown pass from Ivan Toncic to Art Gobb with 22 seconds remaining gave Pittsburgh a 6-3 triumph over Oregon; Billy Cannon's two touchdowns helped LSU whip Alabama, 28-0; Jack Douglas Stanford to a 26-6 victory over Northwestern; Gerry Nesbitt scored three times as Arkansas spanked Tulsa, 41-14; Dick Reed passed North Carolina to a 26-0 victory over Clemson.

Flu, Hempfield Present Obstacles For Greyhounds

Coach Armand Niccolai, of the Monessen High Greyhound grid team, was hoping this morning that the flu-bug would go far away and stay away as he attempts to prepare the 'Hounds for Friday's test at Hempfield Joint High School.

Friday night Niccolai used a squad which had been riddled by the flu, with 16 players out of action from a squad of almost 40 players. Several others who saw action had jumped out of sick beds to play when their temperatures came down somewhat.

No Excuses — Nick

The local mentor offers no excuses, however, for Friday's loss as he tabbed Uniontown "a rugged, fast team which would be hard to beat even if we were at full strength."

Monessen's opponent this week was figured to be somewhat of a doormat this season as they were last year since the new school is just "feeling its way" in Class AA circles.

Such is not the case, however, as the Spartans have chalked up victories over Har-Brack and Jeannette on successive weekends in addition to an opening win over Class A Hurst.

Coach Bill Abraham of the Jointers apparently learned a lot about his team while they were dropping six games of an abbreviated schedule last season for they have shown real class thus far in '57 campaign.

Will Need Rest

Coach Niccolai of the locals stated this morning that "even if the boys who have had the flu came out today or tomorrow, they are going to be so weak we won't be able to get much work out of them before Friday so they'll have to rest."

The local Jayvee game has been called off since the entire 'Hound second string backfield of Carl Payne, Jimmy Lewitsky, Richard Bass, Charles Bill and Andy Carollo, who play first team for the Jayvees, are on the flu shelf.

Major Leagues Show Half-Million Crowd Increase

By UNITED PRESS

Hot pennant races in both big leagues brought an increase of nearly a half-million fans in attendance this season, final figures showed today, with the pennant-winning Milwaukee Braves seting a new record.

The Braves, closing out their year of triumph with a 45,000 capacity crowd at the last game, finished with a total of 2,215,404 fans for the season — breaking the old big-league record of 2,131,388 they set in 1954.

All told, 17,015,773 fans paid their way into the big league parks—an increase of 472,523 over last year. American League teams reported a total of 8,198,292, an increase of 304,609, and National League clubs reported a total of 8,817,481, an increase of 167,914

Ten of the clubs showed boosts over last season, and six suffered declines.

The Detroit Tigers reported the biggest increase of 221,161, followed by the Philadelphia Phillies at 211 424. However, on a percentage basis the Phillies' increase was 22 4 per cent to the Tigers' 21 8 per cent.

Other clubs reporting increases were Milwaukee, St. Louis, the New York Giants, the New York Yankees, Chicago White Sox, Boston, Baltimore and Washington

On the losing side of the ledger were Cincinnati, Brooklyn, Pittsburgh, Chicago Cubs, Cleveland, and Kansas City. The Dodgers, in possibly a "lame duck" season, suffered the most a loss of 187,404 customers for a percentage loss of 15 4 per cent.

The National League was up 1 9 per cent, the American League 3 9 per cent, and both leagues together 2 9 per cent.

Indiana Teachers Edge California

INDIANA, Sept 30 — Indiana Teachers edged California Teachers, 14-13, in a close football contest here Saturday. The loss was the second in succession for the Vulcans, who dropped their opener to Denison.

Quarterback Bill Hoffman figured in both Indiana touchdowns, passing to McFarland on a 64-yard play and intercepting a CSTC lateral and racing 35 yards for a six-pointer.

Bernie Roberts scored on an 11-yard pass play for Cal Teachers and John D'Arrigo went across from seven yards out.

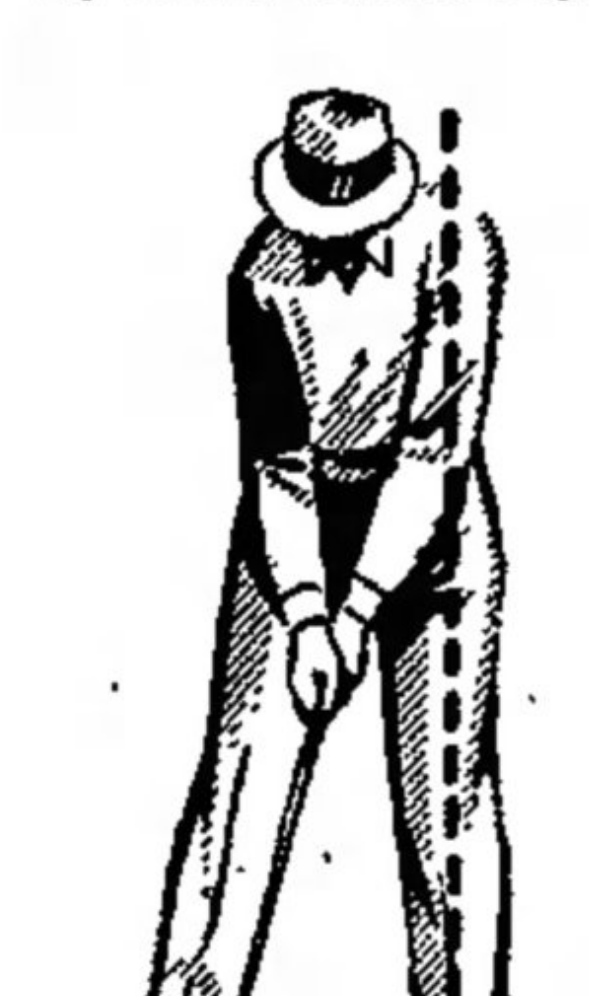
'New' Steelers Win, 28-7

DOCTORING YOUR GOLF

By CARY MIDDLECOFF



Against the Wind

Whenever you're up against strong winds, execute the punch shot to keep the ball low — and it must or ought to be low.

Grip the club a little shorter than usual for this shot and take firm hold on the handle. I said grip, not squeeze. The blade must be kept absolutely square so that the ball will fly low and straight.

The shot may be executed with any iron from the two through the five, depending on how much distance you need. Assume your normal stance, but play the ball toward your right foot. In that way, you'll hit the ball and the ground at the same time, reducing backspin and height.

In swinging, make sure that most of your weight is on your left foot and take a short backswing, without fully cocking the wrists.

Venturi Paces MVCC Golfers; Tri-Am Results

Marion Venturi shot 37-41—78 on Saturday and came back to fire 34-40—77 today for weekend low gross honors at Monongahela Country Club.

The team of George Fegela, Charles Welch and H. O. Colgan won the tri-amateur tourney today with a score of 30-31—61. Other low scores were: Dr Paul Manon, E. E. Compton, Sr and A. Miale, 31-32—63; A. Grant, J. Conte and Don Tustin, 31-32—63; Dr. H. Underwood, H. Boardman and John Boyer, 33-33—66 and M. Venturi, J. J. Salay, Sr. and Jim Hamilton, 32-34—66.

Kickers winners were William Robinson Saturday with a 94-20—74 card and Bill Hart on Sunday with an 89-7—82.

New York City and New Orleans are the two chief coffee centers of the United States.

Parker's Trades Pay Off

By RUDY CERNKOVIC

PITTSBURGH (UP)—The Pittsburgh Steelers counted "dividends" today after their pre-season player investments brought them a 28-7 rout over the Washington Redskins in a National Football League opener.

Coach Buddy Parker, making his regular league debut as Steeler coach, Sunday, was satisfied that his role of a gridiron "broker" was profitable. He admitted last month that he was gambling when he srrendered star linebacker Marv Matuszak and the first draft choices of 1958 and 1959 to the San Francisco Forty Niners for quarterback Earl Morrall.

Morrall Connects

Morrall turned out to the "margin" of the Steeler's "new stock". He threw a touchdown pass to end Ray Mathews with 12 seconds remaining in the first half and caught Jug Girard, another new Steeler, with a pair of scoring aerials in the final quarter.

Switched To Running

In the third period Morrall directed a 73-yard touchdown driv with finesse. He started the push by completing a pair of passes for a total of 30 yards and then switched the offense to a running attack. Halfback Dick Young, acquired recently from the Baltimore Colts in exchange for a draft choice, hit left tackle for two yards and the score. Bill Bowman, another "new look" Steeler helped in the ground - gaining chores.

After the game Parker admitted the offense "was better than I expected."

"The defensive unit was particularly good," he said. "The guards proved excellent on pass defense."

Morrall had praise for Mathews.

"He certainly can move when he gets that ball," he said. Morrall recalled that he started for the Forty-Niners against Detroit last year when Parker coached the Lions.

"We were beaten in the 17-13 but I had a pretty good day. Maybe Parker remembered me and that's why I'm with the Steelers now," he smiled.

Redskins Coach Joe Kuharich sat dejectedly in the dressing room after the game.

"When you don't have it—things just don't go," he remarked.

The only Redskin score came in the opening minutes of the third period when quarterback Eddie Le Baron threw 38 yards to Jim Podoley for a score. Sam Baker converted.

Bobby Bragan Named Indians' 1958 Pilot

CLEVELAND (UP —Pepper-pot Bobby Bragan, who was dropped as manager of the Pittsburgh Pirates in mid-season, bounced back into the major leagues today as the new manager of the Cleveland Indians.

The fiery Bragan succeeded a bitterly disappointed Kerby Farrell, whose release was announced last night at the end of a season that saw the highly-rated Indians finish in sixth place, 21½ games behind the Yankees.

"We feel that a change of managers will serve the best interests of the team," said General Manager Hank Greenberg in announcing the switch.

Bragan, former major league catcher who managed the Pirates to a brilliant start in 1956 but a poor start this year, was not present at the meeting that made known his appoinment. He was in Cuba, where he is managing Almandares of the Cuban Winter League, but Greenberg said Bobby would arrive in New York early Tuesday to attend the World Series and meetings with the Cleveland staff.

Musial, Williams Wrap Up Majors' Batting Honors

By UNITED PRESS

That "youth will be served" stuff was temporarily shelved in the leagues on the final day of the 1957 baseball season as 39-year-old Ted Williams and 36-year-old Stan Musial officially wrapped up the batting championships.

Williams finished with a .388 batting average to .365 for American League runner - up Mickey Mantle of the Yankees.

Musial, was an easy National League winner with .351 to .333 for Willie Mays of the Giants.

The major league home run crown went to hammerin' Hank Aaron of the Milwaukee Braves as Ernie Banks of the Chicago Cubs, who had 43, bagged five hits during an 8-3 victory over the Cardinals but couldn't get that one last homer. Aaron also took the big league runs-batted-in title with 132.

Sievers Wins Three

Roy Sievers of the Washington Senators became the first member of an eighth-place team ever to win three American League championships.

Sievers won the home run crown with 42, the runs-batted-in crown with 114, and the total bases title with 331.

Jim Bunning of the Detroit Tigers got credit in relief for a 7-4 victory over Kansas City to join the 20-game winners' club at the last minute with a 20-8 record. The only other pitchers to make it this year were Warren Spahn of the Braves with 21 and Billy Pierce of the White Sox with 20.

But the top won-lost percentage crowns went to non - members of the elite circle. Bob Buhl of the Braves was best in the National League with 18 wins and seven losses for .720 and Dick Donovan of the White Sox and Tom Sturdivant tied for A.L. honors at 16-6 for .727.

'Hutch' Happy With Pact Terms

ST. LOUIS (UP)—Fred Hutchinson said Sunday he was "completely satisfied" with the terms of the new contract he has signed with the St. Louis Cardinals.

Frank Lane, general manager of the Cardinals, said the agreement on the one-year contract was reached in a meeting of Cardinal President August A. Busch Jr., executive vice president Richard A. Meyer and himself.

Hutchinson did not reveal the terms of the contract, but Lane said he received an increase over his 1957 salary.

"We are all glad to accept Frank Lane's recommendation that Fred Hutchinson be rehired for next season," said Busch.

Groza's Fielders Upset Giants For Cleveland, 6-3

By EARL WRIGHT

Lou Groza, an insurance salesman who makes a policy of paying off on close shaves, booted the Cleveland Browns to a 6-3triumph over the champion New York Giants Sunday as the National Football League opened what promises to be an upsetting" but profitable season.

Groza's 47-yard field goal with 21 seconds to go set the pattern for the beginning of the 8th NFL campaign as the underdogs won four of the six games. The games drew 260,137 fans, 45,381 more than last year's openers when the league went on to draw a record 2,551,263 paid admissions.

It was the same story at Green Bay as the Packers, led by Babe Parilli's passing and newly-developed defensive skill, surprised the Chicago Bears, 21-17.

Steelers Win

The Pittsburgh Steelers upset the Washington Redskins, 28-7; the Chicago Cardinals surprised the San Francisco Forty-Niners, 20-10; the Los Angeles Rams were favored by 11½ points but had to sweat to edge the Philadelphia Eagles, 17-13; and the Baltimore Colts crushed the Detroit Lions, 34-14, in the day's best offensive show.

The Steelers were one-point underdogs but won with a good defense and the passing of their new quarterback, Earl Morrall. Morrall, obtained by Parker from the Forty-Niners in one of the many deals he has engineered since moving to Pittsburgh, threw two touchdown passes to Jug Girard, one to Ray Mathews and master-minded the fourth Steeler touchdown by Dick Young.

Cards Control Forty-Niners

Lamar McHans passing and Ollie Matson's running enabled the Cardinals to control the ball at San Francisco.

Paige Cothren's 37 — yard field goal provided the final margin at Los Angeles in the final minutes after Don Burroughs intercepted a Bobby Thomason pass on the Philadelphia 24.

Decola Seeks Seventh

NEW YORK (UP) — Welterweight Tony DeCola of Brooklyn seeks his seventh straight victory tonight in a 10-rounder with favored Jimmy Archer of New York at St. Nicholas Arena. It will be televised by DuMont at 10:30 p.m. e.d.t.

Pirates Spoil Farewell To Polo Grounds Home For Giants in 9-1 Win

NEW YORK (UP)—The Pittsburgh Pirates ruined the New York Giants farewell at the Polo Grounds Sunday by handing them a 9-1 defeat in the final game of the season for both clubs.

Bob Friend limited New York to six hits in winning his 14th game to settle a 68-year-old score against the San Francisco-bound Giants. The Giants beat the Pirates, 7-5, in the first game ever played at the Polo Grounds on July 8, 1889.

The Pirates thus finished the 1957 season tied for seventh place with the Chicago Cubs.

Southpaw Johnny Antonelli was nicked for four runs during the two innings he worked and suffered his 18th loss against 12 victories. The Pirates collected 17 hits, three of them by Friend.

Pittsburgh broke a 1-1 tie with three runs in the second, highlighted by Frank Thomas' 23rd home run. They scored two more runs in the fourth, another in the sixth and eighth and their final run on Johnny Powers' homer in the ninth.

The victory by Friend, who finished the season with a 14-18 record, brought Manager Danny Murtaugh a winning record of 26-25 since he took over the Pirates on Aug. 3.

Pittsburgh 100 201 011— 9 17 0
New York 100 000 000— 1 6 0

Friend (14-18) and Peterson. Antonelli, Barclay (3), Crone (6), Miller (7), Monzant (9) and Westrum, Katt (9. Loser — Antonelli (12-18). HR — F. Thomas (23rd), Powers (2nd).

Hartack vs. Arcaro

NEW YORK (UP)—Willie Hartack is closing ground rapidly on Eddie Arcaro's single-season record of 40 stake winners. Hartack accounted for his 36th stakes triumph of the campaign Saturday when he booted Dedicate to an upset verdict over favored Gallant Man in the $106,100 Woodward Stakes.

Injuries Plague Yanks; Brave Enroute to N Y

By LEO H. PETERSEN

NEW YORK (UP)—The champion New York Yankees hoped to solve their injury problems today while awaiting the arrival of the Milwaukee Braves and what could be the richest overall World Series in history.

Manager Casey Stengel of the Yankees, shooting for his eighth Series championship in nine tries, wondered whether his ailing stars, Mickey Mantle and Bill (Moose) Skowron, would be able to play in Wednesday's opening game at Yankee Stadium.

So, he called for a Monday morning workout at the stadium.

"Maybe after it's over I'll be able to tell you whether Mickey and Bill will start on Wednesday," Stengel said. "On the other hand, I'll work 'em out again on Tuesday morning for I wanta make sure."

Just what he would do if they couldn't play, he didn't reveal. But the chances are he would put his prize rookie, Tony Kubek, in center to replace Mantle and shift Elston Howard, a baseball jack of all trades, to first for Skowron.

Mantle, whose bid to retain batting's Triple Crown, was foiled by shin splints in his left leg, sat out the last three games of the season while Skowron, a heavy-hitting right hander, has been on the sidelines for nearly a month with a painful back injury.

Mantle's Leg Better

The chances appeared to be that Mantle would play for he reported his leg "feeling better."

But it didn't look like Skowron would make it. Stengel had hoped to get all the right handed hitting power possible in his lineup to face the Braves' opening game pitcher, the gifted left hander, Warren Spahn.

Spahn, a 21-game winner, is expected to oppose Whitey Ford, a Yankee cripple for most of the season, who finished strong with a total of 11 victories.

While the Yankees were working out, the Braves were being feted in a civic ceremony and parade in Milwaukee. The Braves were scheduled to leave Milwaukee by plane at 2 p.m. e.d.t. and arrive in New York some three hours later.

Manager Fred Haney, announcing definitely that Spahn would be his first game starter, scheduled a workout for Yankee Stadium Tuesday afternoon.

"I want my players at the stadium on Tuesday to practice during the same time the games there will be played," he explained at Milwaukee. "Then they can establish the patterns of the sun and shade during the afternoon."

Field Troubles Visitors

Haney refused to go beyond his pitching plans other than Spahn. It was expected, however, that he would start either Lew Burdette (17-9) or Bob Buhl (18-7) in the second game at the stadium on Thursday.

Stengel, who has not even announced definitely that Ford will be his opening-game pitcher, was expected to go with another southpaw, Bobby Shantz (11-5) in the second game.

For the third game in Milwaukee on Saturday—Friday will be kept open for travel—Stengel was expected to go with either Bullet Bob Turley (13-6) or Don Larsen (10-4), who made history last year when he pitched the first perfect game in Series annals. For the Braves in Saturday's game it will be either Burdette or Buhl, depending on which one does not start on Thursday.

CSTC Seniors to Take Part in Conferences

California State Teachers College will be represented by 130 members of the senior class at a classroom teacher vs. future teacher day sponsored by the department of classroom teachers of the Pennsylvania State Education Association next Saturday.

The meeting will be held in the Cathedral of Learning of the University of Pittsburgh.

California students will join seniors majoring in education from other area liberal arts and state teachers colleges as well as representatives and sponsors of high school Future Teachers of America Clubs in Western Pennsylvania.

The purpose of the meeting is three-fold: (1) to interpret the philosophy of Professional Associations to future teachers, and to acquaint them with the organization, goals, function and achievements of these organizations on the local, state and national levels; (2) to help find answers and solutions to problems which may be facing the future teachers before that big "first" day: (3) to inspire, encourage, compliment, and reassure the future teacher for having chosen teaching as a career.

Kenneth Cury, professor of education at the University of Pittsburgh, will be host to the group. Dr. Paul Masoner, Dean of the School of Education at the University of Pittsburgh. Dr. Frank Guhle of tht National Education Association, and Dr. William H. Johnson of the University Education Department will be the main speakers at the meeting. Miss Lucy Valero, representing the Pennsylvania State Education Association, will summarize the meeting for the delegates.

Major work of the meeting will be accomplished by dividing the student and teacher representatives into informal small groups for discussion. Miss Dorothy Harpster, sponsor of the CSTC group, will preside over a discussion group.

Army Pulls in Belt; Cuts Down Armored Divisions

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Army pulled in its belt another notch today to meet the economy demands of Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson.

It said it would replace one of its two 15,000-man armored divisions with a 5,000-man armored combat team. It said it would also abolish 14 Air Defense installations and five aviation construction battalions as well as reduce a combat team in Panama.

The cuts were part of the army's drive to help meet Wilson's order to pare down its overall manpower strength by 100,000 men by the end of the current fiscal year next June 30.

The Army said in a statement last night it would cut its manpower by 71,000 by next Jan. 1 and an additional 29,000 by June 30. It said Wilson's order also may force it to close some Army posts, camps and other installations.

The service said the manpower cuts would be concentrated "among personnel engaged in administrative, logistical and special activity" branches.

But it said Wilson's economy order required changes in its combat structure.

Wilson recently directed the armed forces to trim 200,000 men from their manpower strengths by next June 30. The orders were designed to save about a billion dollars in defense spending.

'NO BREATHING' FOR 18 HOURS — Charles J. Downey, 52, says "Life's wonderful" in New England Center hospital, Boston, following an eight and one-half hour heart operation. Downey was "frozen" down to 87-degree body temperature for 16 hours, and a mechanical breathing machine breathed for him for 18 hours, believed the longest a machine has been used for such a purpose. His wife sits beside him. The Downeys live in Springfield, Mass.

Four Persons Dead In Traffic Accidents

By UNITED PRESS

Crisp fall wather brought a heavy flow of traffic to Pennsylvania highways during the weekend, but fatal accidents kept their usual tempo throughout the state.

From 6 p.m. Friday until midnight Sunday, the United Press counted at least four persons dead in highway mishaps. Two of those killed lost their lives in pedestrian accidents while four others died directly as a result of auto smashups.

The fatalities:

Willow Grove: A 27-year-old man was struck and killed by an automobile Sunday shortly after alighting from a bus near his home here. The victim was William H. Jones.

Ambridge: John Cottage, 25, of Freedom, suffered fatal injuries Sunday when his automobile ran off a rural road. Two other men in the car, Richard Barto of Baden and Walter Henrickson of Conway, were taken to Sewickley Valley Hospital for treatment of cuts and bruises.

McKeesport: Lester Evans, 6, of Elizabeth Twp., died in McKeesport Hospital Saturday night a short time after he was struck by an automobile in front of his home.

Lock Haven: Irvin Strunk, 36, of Bellefonte, was killed Friday when his car failed to negotiate a curve on a rural road near here and crashed into a tree.

Allentown: Two men were killed and three others were injured Friday night when an automobile struck a bridge abutment on Route 29 about 10 miles north of here. Those killed were Theodore Snyder, 20, Tamaqua, and William Middleton, 9, Coaldale.

History Ordered

MOSCOW (UP) — The Central Committee of the Soviet Communist Party has ordered publication of a five-volume history of the Soviet role in World War II. The new history will rectify "errors" committed by historians in the Stalin era who gave Stalin credit for all victories and blamed defeats on others.

Gallatin Bank Introduces New 'Pay 'N Save' Club

The Gallatin Bank today announced a new banking service.

Paul Mallone, Gallatin president, said that the service — to be known as the Pay 'N Save Club — will be available beginning today at all of the company's ten offices, including the district office at Fayette City.

The new service makes it possible for anyone under 60 years of age to have immediately any amount from $500 to $5,000 on deposit in a savings account.

The bank loans the individual money, and the full amount chosen as the goal is immediately deposited in a regular savings account which earns the regular rate of interest compounded semi-annually on the full amount deposited to the account.

"With our exclusive Pay 'N Save Club," Malone said, "budget conscious people can have a savings account in whatever amount they choose, on easy monthly payments, with the unpaid balance protected by life insurance."

No physical examination is required.

Methodists Hold Three Meetings

HARRISBURG (UP) — The Central Pennsylvania Conference of the Methodist Church will hold three conferences this week on church-related higher education.

The first meeting is set for Wednesday at Lycoming College, Williamsport; the second, Thursday at Dickinson College, Carlisle, and the third, Friday at Pennsylvania State University.

Bishop G. Bromley Oxnam will speak at each of the conferences, which are sponsored by the Central Pennsylvania Conference Commission on Higher Education.

The convocation at Penn State will also include the consecration of the new Wesley Foundation building there by Bishop Oxnam.

Camera Club in Meeting Here; Winners Listed

The Belle Vernon Camera Club met on Thursday evening in the annex of the First Presbyterian Church on Main St. The club moved its headquarters from the basement room of the bank building on Arch and Broad Ave., where it has had club rooms for several years.

Awards were presented at the Thursday session in the annual color slide competition. Winners were Eugene Taylor of Twilight, first and second and Joseph Martin, third.

Honorable mentions were given to Thomas Barkley and Roscoe DeBusk Jr. On Oct. 11 there will be a black and white competition conducted by the local club, and open house will be held for the general public. This will be for the Tri-State Council of Camera Clubs, but the exhibition will be for the general public.

Nester Henrion of Fisher Height is president of the Tri-State Council and is also a member of the local Camera Club.

The general assembly of the Tri-State Camera Clubs will be held in November in Steubenville, Ohio.

John Dowalo, a member of the local club, will attend the Photographic Society of America convention in St. Louis from Wednesday to Saturday of this week.

Mrs. Ella Leithold of Henry St. visited relatives in Canonsburg last week.

Junior Legion Auxiliary in First Meeting Here Friday

The Junior Auxiliary to Belle Vernon American Legion Post 659 opened activities for the 1957-58 season with a meeting on Friday evening in the meeting room of the Post Home.

Ginger Houseman, president, was in charge of the meeting which opened with prayer by Patricia Panarelli, and opening ceremonies in which Carol Ann Cefala was color guard.

In the report on the sick members it was announced that Wilma Jean Venneri, who had been hospitalized is now at home and is recovering.

Plans were made for the election of officers, which will be held at the meeting which is scheduled for Friday evening, Oct. 25, at the Post Home. This session will also be in the form of a Halloween party and all members must come in costume.

The craft project consisted of completing Christmas gift tags on which the girls have been working for some time. These will now be used as a ways and means project since the girls will sell these tags.

Mrs. Inez Lehew, immediate past president of the Ladies Auxiliary to the American Legion Post 659, gave a brief talk concerning the program that the group follows.

The guest award which was brought by Patricia Panarelli was won by Lena Marie Stancato.

During the social hour Sandy Pupilli, who observed a September birthday, was seated at a decorated table.

Luncheon was served by Mrs. Dorothy Cefala, junior director, who was in charge of the activities of the young folks, Mrs. Lehew, Mrs. Helen Thieser and Mrs. Josephine Panarelli, who was present as a guest for the evening.

Many Attend Vernon Canteen

There were 115 students in attendance at the Vernon Junior High School canteen dance on Saturday evening in the school gymnasium. Music was furnished by recordings with Bob Gaskill as disc jockey assisted by Phillip Mascara.

Prizes were awarded to Judy Michener and Vance Bunardzya. They were the first girl and boy to register for canteen on Sept. 21, when canteen season opened. There were additional registrations on Saturday evening.

Counselors were Mrs. Theresa Ferrari, Mrs. Madeline Gelotti and the two co-chairmen, Mrs. Hilda Borsotta and Mrs. Georgia Naccarato.

The dance was sponsored by the Bellmarette Band Boosters and another dance is planned for next Saturday evening.

Scout Leaders in Formal Session

The first formal session of the fall season for Girl Scout Leaders Club of the Triad will be held this evening at 7:30 at the home of Mrs. Millie Russell of Fairhope.

The business session will be devoted to making plans for various activities during the coming year. The president, Mrs. Peg DePaolo, will be in charge. A social hour will follow.

The leaders met for informal activities during the summer months.

Band Boosters Meet Tomorrow

The October meeting of the Bellmarette Band Boosters has been advanced to tomorrow evening from the regular meeting night, Tuesday, Oct. 8. The session will be held in the officers room of the Belle Vernon Musical Society Hall at 8 o'clock.

Parents of band members from all component communities included in the Bellmarette Joint School District are invited to be affiliated with this organization that is just beginning a new season.

The October meeting was advanced in order that the meeting would not conflict with the Band Festival being planned by the Belle Vernon Lions Club on Oct. 8 at Bellmar Stadium.

Harry Crespo Jr. Guest of Honor

Harry Crespo Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Crespo of Westmoreland St. was guest of honor at a party held last Saturday evening in the club room of the Belle Vernon American Legions Post 659. The occasion was the observance of his 16th birthday anniversary.

Guests attended from Belle Vernon, Charleroi and other area towns. Games music and dancing were enjoyed. At the close of the evening refreshments were, served.

Assisting in the serving were Mrs. Sam Zeli, Mrs. William Kirby and Mrs. Tony Ciliberti.

L. O. P. Club Meets At Breakwell Home

Mrs. Rachael Breakwell was hostess to members of the L.O.P. Club at her home in Belle Vernon on Friday evening.

Games were played after which the hostess served luncheon. The group made plans to meet the last Friday in October at the home of Mrs. Margaret Cope in Fairhope.

Winning the high scores at games were Mrs. Margaret Glotfelty, Mrs. Richard Wilson and Mrs. Breakwell.

Brownie Troop Learns Games, Dances Saturday

Prospective Brownies were extended a welcome when Belle Vernon Brownie Troop 26 met on Saturday in the Girl Scout Little House. The leader, Mrs. Olga Miller, was in charge along with the new assistant leader.

The Brownies repeated the Brownie Promise and the salute to the flag as instruction for the new girls. Mrs. Miller then read a story, "What It Means To Be A Brownie Scout."

Games and a dance were taught to the entire group.

Most of the time was spent in registration for the new girls, Toni Kyle, Joyce and Sharon Rosborough, Barbara Ann Sanino, Bonnie Luce, Susan Jo Barger, Adele Popelas, Carol Ann Touche, Kathy Cramer, Louise While, Shirley River.

Mrs. Miller has announced that the troop membership is now closed for the year. The girls will meet next Saturday from 11:30 a. m. until 1:30 p. m. in the Little House.

Last Thursday afternoon the group gathered at the Miller home on Grant St. for a wiener roast.

Vernon Nine in Awarding of Prizes

A meeting of the Vernon Nine was held on Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. Anthony Zbyl of Charleroi R. D.

Two tables of five hundred were in play and those receiving high score awards were Mrs. Michael Costello, Mrs. Frank Toia and Mrs. Harry Daugherty.

Special awards were given to Mrs. Costello and Mrs. Guadagnino.

Mrs. Daugherty was present as a guest.

Luncheon was served, and plans were made to meet in two weeks at the home of Mrs. Lloyd Haffner of Green St.

Dining Cars in Connecticut State

HARTFORD, Conn. (UP)—Connecticut motorists, taking advantage of the state's registration plate lettering system, now offer everything from "soup" to "nutz."

The list of driver's dishes includes: Beef, fish, veal, corn, peas, rice, roll, pie, cake, milk and tea.

The four letter maximum eliminates such items as butter and coffee. Officials say that nobody has thought to apply for "oleo" and "java" yet.

Woman's Club Opens Season Here Tomorrow

"Wanted — Your Magic" will be the theme discussed tomorrow afternoon, when the Belle Vernon Woman's Club begins the 1957-58 club year. The club will convene at 2 o'clock in the First Methodist Church.

Guest speaker will be Carolyn E. Davis, director of Volunteer Service at Woodville State Hospital. She will discuss the work done by clubwomen for this mental institution.

The club will honor the new president, Mrs. C. W. Bierwirth.

Hostesses will be the club officers, Mrs. Bierwirth, Mrs. C. G. Dickson, first vice president; Mrs. Steve Ruby, second vice president; Mrs. Clyde Lear, recording secretary; Mrs. Louis Swartz, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Thomas Flanagan, treasurer; Elizabeth Roley, parliamentarian and Mrs. Paul Davison, librarian.

The social committee of which Mrs. Harold R. Toner and Mrs. W. D. Gemmill are co-chairmen will serve tea.

Russell Cope of Fairhope is still a patient in the Allegheny General Hospital in Pittsburgh. Next week he will undergo special tests.

'Relaxing' Furniture Big Success

NEW YORK (UP) — Eight years ago Owen Murphy quit a $3,000 a year job as a machinery salesman and started a three man factory in a barn at Adamsville, (Crawford County) Pa., to make a revolutionary new "relaxing machine."

Today, Murphy revealed, his company will do a 25 million dollar business this year. And he announced a new line of motorized "relaxation furniture" including sofas, chaise lounges and chairs to give people cycloid massage either while they work or rest.

Five factories now turn out the products of Murphy's Niagara Therapy Manufacturing Co., two each at Brocton and Silver Creek, N.Y., and one at Port Eric, Ont.—and all have been built without borrowing a nickel or floating a share of stock.

Murphy made all the first year's sales — totalling $10,000—by peddling his motorized relaxing pad for the feet house to house himself. It's the old American story of a man building a business from the ground up himself — the story some cynics keep insisting can't happen anymore.

"It's a big business now and I'm confident our sales will hit 100 million dollars a year in another five years," Murphy told the United Press.

Niagara relaxing chairs and pads are used by many business men — among them presidents Thomas J. Watson Jr. of International Business Machines; Clifford Hood of U. S. Steel and W. A. Patterson of United Airlines. They are also used by a wide variety of other people, including housewives, professional athletes and truckdrivers. A special motorized relaxing pad resting behind the driver's back gives him a gentle massage all during long trips.

Next year Murphy plans to bring out a full-size sheet foam rubber pad to go over a mattress containing steel bands that are actuated by a motor on the cycloid massage principle.

The purpose of cycloid massage is to relax muscles, ease nervous tension and the common pains of arthritis and rheumatism. It is also designed to improve blood circulation and induce restful sleep.

Both the Pacific and Atlantic oceans can be seen from the peak of Mt. Irazu, Costa Rica.

HEART DISEASE PROBABLY HAS NOT INCREASED...

The increasing number of reports of heart disorders as a cause of death has been brought about by the success of medicine. Many persons who formerly might have died of other diseases now live long and useful lives—eventually to succumb to a failing heart which has performed its lifetime of duty.

Therefore—as we grow older, the care of the heart must be considered in our every activity. Have regular check-ups by your Doctor, and follow his guidance carefully. He probably can help to keep your heart functioning for many extra years of buoyant and happy life. Whenever medication is required, we will be happy to have you bring your prescriptions to this Pharmacy.

Pennsylvania Farm—

Two Big Expositions Scheduled for State

By UNITED PRESS

Two major expositions are scheduled to be held in the Pennsylvania Farm Show Building at Harrisburg in October and November.

First on the agenda is the Northeastern Poultry Producers Council's annual exposition which open Oct 8 Everything from a "solar" poultry house to the world's record laying hen will be on display.

The following month will feature the first annual Pennsylvania Livestock Exposition, in which more than $75,000 in premiums will be offered.

The NEPPCO expects more than 7,000 poultrymen from throughout the nation to attend the giant three-day exposition. The "solar" poultry house was developed by Pennsylvania State University experts, who predict it will be an "eye-opener."

Visitors also will be shown latest developments and techniques in the poultry industry, ranging from electronic egg graders to automatic feeders and waterers A record number of exhibitors will enter displays

Awards

One of the features of the three-day exposition will be selection of the outstanding poultry woman of the year from entrants from each of the 14 states in the NEPPCO area. The "Best Poultry Boy" from each of the states also will be named, with the most outstanding being picked for a special FFA "Poultry Boy of the Year" award.

The fabulous Meg O Day, a white leghorn hen which recently set world records in egg production, also will be on display for the first time in Pennsylvania.

The program will include educational sessions covering a wide variety of topics.

Entries for the week-long Livestock Exposition, which opens Nov 12, will close Tuesday, Oct. 1. Premiums totaling $52,284 will be paid in the beef cattle classes, $10,492 in the sheep class and $12,441 for swine. Entries will include registered stock from principal livestock areas of the United States and Canada.

State Agriculture Secretary William L. Henning and Leon Falk Jr of Pittsburgh, president of the Pennsylvania Livestock and Allied Industries Association, Inc, said the major objective of the exposition is improvement of herds and flocks by "providing an outstanding opportunity for exhibition, competition and sale of high quality beef cattle, swine and sheep"

They said the exposition also will provide an opportunity for breeders, feeders, processors, suppliers and consumers to meet and compare notes and exchange ideas.

State Receives $174,980 for Sale Of Used Cars

HARRISBURG (UP) — Andrew M Bradley, state secretary of properties and supplies, reported today that the state received $174,980 in an auction of 175 used state cars, the most successful sale since the department started its "buy-sell" program with the Capitol car fleet last year.

Bradley said the average price received for the cars — ranging from 1949 models to one year old Fords and Chevrolets—was $1,000.

He said 75 one-year-old, four-door Fords, with up to 30,000 miles use, were sold for $1,100 each—only $50 less than the state paid for them in 1956

In addition, fifty 1956 Chevrolets four-door sedans with automatic transmission, originally purchased for $1,400, went for an average of $1,275.

Adenauer Warns of Armed Forces Cut

BONN, Germany (UP). — Chancellor Konrad Adenauer warned today against any one-sided cut in the West's armed forces.

He cautioned that for "psychological reasons" alone it would be wrong for the West to slash its defenses without winning anything in return from the Soviets:

But he conceded that Soviet fear of U.S. armed might made it "most unlikely" Russia would wage war. "They are quite aware that the U.S. is stronger than the Soviet Union and that they probably would destroy themselves by war," he said.

Adenauer said his landslide victory in the Sept. 15 general elections also served as a warning to the Soviets of the West's determination — and that the election victory showed the German public's support.

Adenauer made these other main points in an interview:

—West Germany's policy will continue to be based on close membership in the Western alliance.

—West Germany will fulfill its NATO arms commitments but will not speed up its rearmament timetable.

—He expects to see substantial progress towards German reunification during the next four years The West must continue patiently showing the Soviets it is wrong for them to block a United Germany.

—West Germany will support any Western policy "that can lead to honorable progress in the disarmament issue."

—There is no acute war danger today such as there was at the time of the Suez crisis a year ago.

McDonald Plan Includes Fund For Education

CHICAGO (UP) — United Steelworkers President David J. McDonald, has outlined a new "progressive" policy for the union including a million-dollar education for steelworkers' children.

McDonald's announcement yesterday followed angry demands, calling for the ouster of the union's dues protest group, a faction led by Donald C. Rarick, a Pittsburgh grievance committeeman.

McDonald, rising to address approximately 1,000 members of the Chicago district conference, outlined new benefits planned for members.

At the top of the list was a fund from which union members' children will be able to borrow to help pay college expenses. McDonald said the fund will be started off with one million dollars.

"Is that progressive?" the white-haired McDonald asked when the applause stopped.

Other benefits being planned, according to McDonald, include television and radio shows to keep steelworkers informed about union activities and life-after-retirement programs for union members.

3 Memorials

In loving memory of our dear husband, father and grandfather, Walter David Sickles, who died one year ago today, September 30, 1956.

When life threatens to make us blue,
We cling to a memory to carry us through.
Feeling that somewhere you are standing by,
Ready to help when you hear us cry.
And so dear father your life of love
Is a precious treasure from Heaven above.
Your grave we tend with loving care,
For part of our heart is buried there.

Sadly missed by wife, Mary, son, Robert, son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Walter L. Sickles, daughters and sons-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Sonafelt and Jeff and Mr. and Mrs. Herman Keith, Jr.

In loving memory of our dear wife, mother and grandmother, Mrs. Lucia Crisi, who died one year ago today, September 30, 1956.

Sad and sudden was the call
Of one so dearly loved by all;
A bitter grief; a shock severe,
It was to part with one so dear.
We often sit and think of you
And speak of how you died,
To think you could not say goodbye
Before you closed your eyes.
For all of us you did your best
Oh, God, grant you eternal rest.

Sadly missed by her husband, sons, daughters, daughters-in-law, sons-in-law and grandchildren.

In loving memory of my dear friend, Mrs. Lucia Crisi, who died one year ago today, September 30, 1956.

Memories are treasures no one can steal,
Death leaves a heartache no one can heal;
Loved dearly in life and living yet,
In the hearts of the ones who will never forget.

Sadly missed by a very dear friend.

Prince Philip Will Delight the Men; American Girls Will Swoon

(Britain's Queen Elizabeth and Prince Philip visit the United States in mid-October. The following story, written by a newsman who has covered the royal family for more than a decade, is the first of five dispatches centering on the man in the family.)

By ROBERT MUSEL

LONDON (UP) — Pietro Annigoni, an Italian master painter with a shrewd and unintimidated eye, was practically accused of lese majeste when he unveiled his portrait of Prince Philip, Duke of Edinburgh.

Everyone expected a companion portrait to the immensely popular, idealized, rose and pearl confection he had turned out for Queen Elizabeth.

Instead, here was the husband of the Queen with a rock-hard face, arrogant jaw and tight-determined mouth.

"It isn't dear Philip at all," wailed a chorus of ten-thousand British housewives.

Annigoni, unmoved, said he would accept only the verdict of history.

Now that the furore has subsided, there is a suspicion that posterity may agree with the artist. Behind the eyes of the handsomest prince in Europe, there is a will and purpose that would clash with the beautiful, empty face of the conventional state portrait.

For those who cannot wait for history's verdict, there is the intriguing pastime of trying to unravel Prince Philip's complex personality right now, of estimating his influence on the reign of the second Elizabeth and matching his record against that of Prince Albert, consort of Victoria.

Only In Britain

It is a game that can be played only in Britain where all the facets of the princely personality are on view, where the truth or malice of gossip (of which there is plenty) can be determined.

Americans will get a look at Philip shortly when he escorts the Queen on a visit to Canada and the United States, specifically Virginia, Washington and New York. He will appear in his best role, the superlatively good-looking attentive courier. The men will like him and the girls will swoon. This is a safe prophecy.

But there is much more to Philip than the perfect foil to his wife, the Queen. The Mountbattens are tough and resourceful as well as charming.

Those who tangled with the 36-year-old first gentlemen when he was shattering cliques at the royal palaces, bear rueful witness that it is easy to underestimate him. The same mistake used to be made in regard to his celebrated and equally striking uncle, Earl Mountbatten.

When the abdication of Edward VIII brought the "Prince of Wales set" crashing down, it was Mountbatten alone who stepped from the gilded debris with his position and power at court undamaged. Not only did he frustrate the royal prophets, but he confounded the military ones, as well, by threading his way expertly upwards in the Navy to First Lord of the Admiralty.

Needed a Husband

Elizabeth is strong willed. She needs a husband to lean on emotionally — but not politically. After five years as Queen, she has still not raised Philip to the rank of Prince Consort which would entitle him to see state papers and be privy to state secrets.

Philip first began to obsess the British public in February, 1947, when he received citizenship and became Lieutenant Philip Mountbatten of the Royal Navy, mentioned in dispatches for service under fire. He thus assured the surname of his uncle who was already clucking protectively over the fledgling romance of his nephew and his distant cousin, Princess Elizabeth.

Philip was never a foreigner in the sense that Albert was. Although of Greek, Danish and German as well as English antecedents, he was educated in Britain, served in its Navy, liked his pint of beer and jollied barmaids in the pubs where he also played a passable game of darts.

In 197 George VI announced the engagement of his daughter to Philip and in November—after a bubbling bachelor party that saw photographer's bulbs smashed against a hotel wall to hear them pop—They were married in Westminster Abbey in one hour of matchless splendor."

Next: A fairy tale that really began with the marriage).

20 Are Killed

ACCRA, Ghana (UP)—At least 20 Nigerians were killed and some 122 injured Sunday when a train plunged down an embankment into a river near Ibadan, Nigeria, reports reaching here said. The reports said heavy rains had washed away part of a railway embankment. Some 300 passengers were still unaccounted for today because many simply walked away in the confusion following the wreck.

Vaccines News in Medicine

By H. N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

A new tuberculosis vaccine seems to be one of the most promising medical advances in this month's review of medicine.

The vaccine, which underwent clinical trials recently in Ecuador, is made from strains of virulent tubercle bacilli of human origin which have been killed by ultraviolet irradiation.

BGG, the vaccine most widely used in prevention of TB, is made from a living, attenuated strain of tubercle bacilli which is of bovine origin.

One advantage of the new irradiated vaccine is that it can be kept for long periods without special storage precautions.

Tests on 100 children show the vaccine can be well tolerated and apparently produces no local reactions. It looks like it may be another great step forward in our battle against tuberculosis.

Effective Drug

Another drug, noscapine, is new, but old. Actually an old drug formerly called narcotine, noscapine is reported to be as effective as codeine in relieving persistent and severe coughing.

A study by the U. S. Public Health Service recently pointed out several advantages of noscapine.

Most important, it can be taken by all types of patients, young or old, without ill effect. Even repeated doses, the report asserts, do not bring about any unpleasant effects. In short, the report says the drug is completely safe and non-addicting.

Canadian scientists are testing a quadruple vaccine designed to protect against diphtheria, tetanus, whopping cough and polio.

This will enable physicians to give a single series of innoculations instead of two series, one for polio and the other for the triple vaccine, as is now required.

Experiments also are being conducted on a new anti-diabetes drug, DBI. The experimental compound significantly lowered the blood sugar in 86 per cent of 104 diabetes patients tested.

While this new drug shows promise, even those conducting the test emphasize that its use must now be confined to experimental work.

QUESTION AND ANSWER

M. H.: Is there more than one type of peptic ulcer?

Answer: There are two types of such ulcers—those present in the stomach itself, known as gastric ulcers, and those present in the duodenum or first part of the intestine as it joins the stomach, known as duodenal ulcers.

New 'Sally' Series

Those who may have missed Marion Lorne since "Mr Peepers" left TV a couple of seasons back will be pleased to find her as entertaining as ever in the role of an eccentric matron in NBC's new "Sally" series.

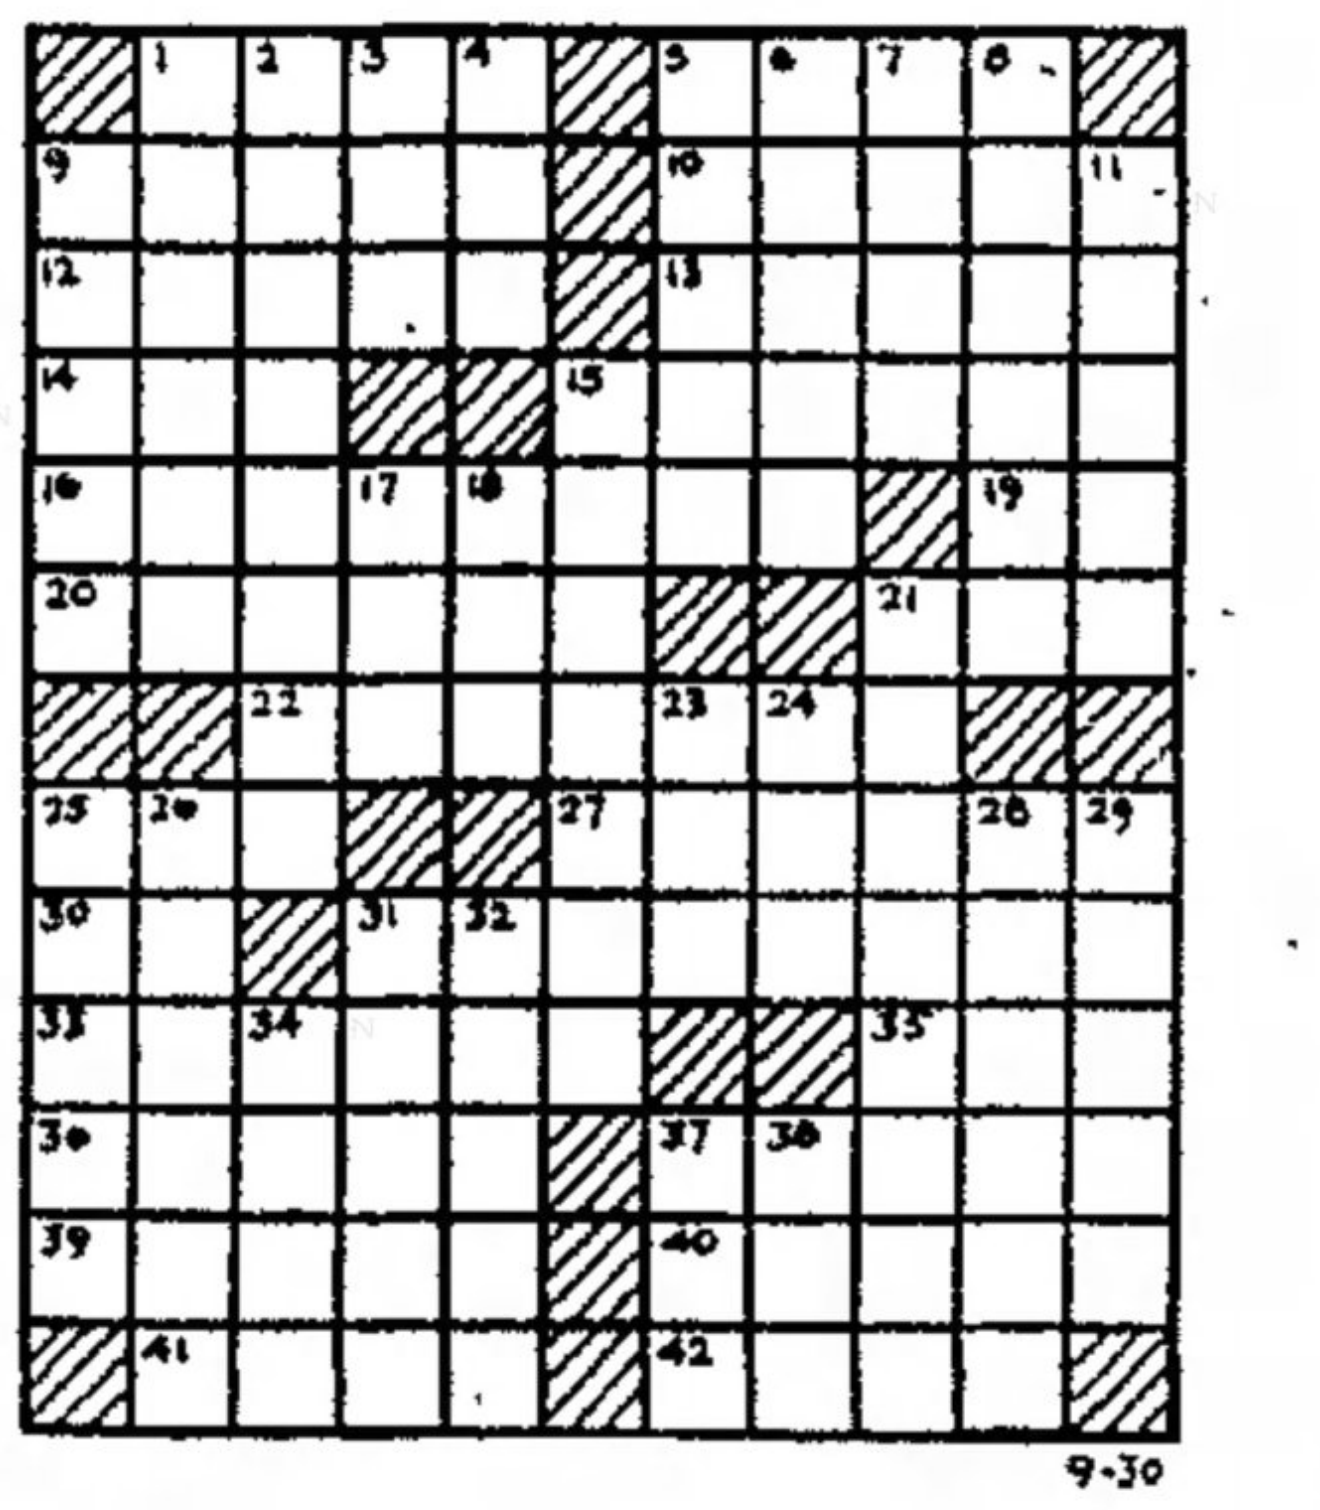
Saturday's Answer



In Hollywood—

New Gunslinger Has Toughest Opposition

By VERNON SCOTT

HOLLYWOOD (UP)— Toughest of the western gunslingers blasting away on TV this season is Jim Garner, star of "Maverick," a brand new sagebrush saga.

What makes Garner any rougher than Wyatt Earp or Matt Dillon?

The opposition, podnah!

Garner's hour-long show competes in the same slot with Jack Benny, Ed Sullivan and Steve Allen—as rugged a passel of sidewinders as ever rode the TV trail.

Not Backing Down

"If ever a guy was caught in a cross-fire, it's me," Garner says. "There are 32 Westerns on TV this year, and I had to tangle with those three characters. But I'm not backing down to 'em."

In true western style, underdog Garner figures he can "shup" the enemy if he gets an even draw.

"People are going to tune into 'Maverick' (ABC, Sunday nights) to see who's bucking those powerful programs," he explained during lunch. "And once they look in I think I can hold 'em.

"The first half-hour of the show is opposite Benny, on the last half we're up against Allen and Sullivan. No other program can make that statement. Come to think of it, who'd want to make it?"

Garner claims his offering is an "adult" horse opera based on a gambler who meanders around the wide-open spaces exposing crooked dealers and other cheats

"I make no claim to being the fastest gun in the West," he grinned, "but if I'm forced to unlimber my six-gun I can handle myself all right."

A 29-year-old all - American boy type, Garner stands 6 feet 3 inches tall and weighs 200 pounds. He was raised in Oklahoma and lays claim to being part Cherokee Indian.

"Almost everybody back home claims to be part Indian," he said.

Does he think his show (filmed at Warner Brothers Studio) can lick such formidable opposition?

"Well, 32 Westerns is too many," he confided. "And somebody's got to go. Maybe next year there'll only be seven or eight left. I think 'Maverick' will still be around when the others bite the dust."

TV NOTES

Frank Sinatra took time out from filming shows for his new ABC series in Hollywood for some location work in France on new motion picture, "Kings Go Forth".

"The Twentieth Century" series on CBS will consist of eight specially filmed documentaries and 18 made up of available film footage about important events. Starts Oct. 20 with a new one-hour treatment of Sir Winston Churchill.

NBC will present "The Prince Is Right" regularly in color when the program becomes a nighttime affair beginning tonight, Mondays from 7:30 to 8 p.m. The already existing five-a-week daytime version will continue at 11 a.m. Mondays through Fridays.

Four half-hour films entitled "Rome of the Popes" were made on location during the summer with the cooperation of the Vatican for use by NBC next January on "The Catholic Hour."

New Panel Discussion On WQED

WQED, in cooperation with the American Foundation for Political Education and the Junior League of Pittsburgh, will present a new series of panel discussions, "Controversy," beginning at 9 p.m. tomorrow.

These half-hour Tuesday programs will aim "to communicate techniques, the intense reality in a conflict of ideas; to demonstrate that material implicitly educational can be overtly entertaining; and to provide an effective effort to put the personal penetration of television to a constructive social use."

Serving as moderator during the 20-week series will be Harry Boardman, Eastern Regional Director of the World Politics Program. Six panelists, who will appear on each show, have been chosen from discussion groups that were held throughout the city last year as part of the program of the AFPE. The AFPE has as its objective promoting interest, critical judgment and a rational approach to politics. Started in 1947, the AFPE organized discussion groups in a number of cities throughout the country and is using the television medium for the "first time" in presenting the "Controversy" series.

On the opening show Tuesday night, panelists of varied backgrounds will argue the common principles in the Atlantic Charter.

Participants will include Dr. Peter Olmstead, teacher of biochemistry at the University of Pittsburgh; James Kuhn, lawyer; Mrs. Richard Bachman, artist and mother of six children; Michael Iskander, Egyptian born and social worker for the American Service Institute; Benson Jaffee, statistician of the Health and Welfare Federation; and Mrs. Mary Dilworth Barnes, lawyer and mother of four children, and also a presidential appointee to the Board of Advisors for the Federal Reformatory for Women.

Other panelists who will appear on subsequent programs are scheduled to include Gordon Whitney, William Shutte, Mrs. Agnes Dodds Frank, Herbert Phillips, T. A. Bishop, Carl Flick, and Mrs. Arthur M. Over.

A pictorial discussion of the topic for the show will precede each program.

'Big Story' in New Series on TV Tomorrow

Officials of television station WIIC today announced that "Big Story", the dramatic half-hour presentation of award-winning news stories, will start on Channel 11 tomorrow night at 10:30.

A complete news series featuring 39 of the top stories which have been presented through radio and television in the past ten years, "Big Story" has as its host-narrator, Burgess Meredith, well-known star of radio, stage, screen and television.

First newspaperman to be featured in the initial telecast is Thurman Johns of the Phoeniz (Ariz.) Gazette in a story titled "Hostage".

It is the gripping story of a young escaped convict who, forced by hunger and terror holds a pregnant woman hostage near a supermarket in Phoenix. Johns, who has followed police to the scene, risks his life in an effort to reason with the convict and rescue the woman.
